

Fate of Tirey L. Ford Will Be IN THE HANDS OF THE JURY Before 6 O'clock This Evening

SAYS THERE IS NO EVIDENCE TO CONVICT HIM

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 3.—Tirey L. Ford's fate will be placed in the hands of the jury, which has heard the evidence introduced to prove that he killed former Supervisor Jennings J. Phillips, this afternoon. It is expected that a verdict will be returned without delay as the jurors are anxious to end their long confinement. A disagreement is expected by both sides.

When A. A. Moore finished his argument for the defense, Judge Lawlor stated that as he had ordered a jury panel for Thursday, it was only right that the prosecution should indicate what case they would try.

"We will try Mr. Patrick Calhoun," said Henry, and a bustle went through the courtroom.

"And have you decided on what charge?" asked the court.

"On one of the Loneran indictments."

BRIDE TAKES POISON TO BE FREE FROM ALLEGED CRUEL TREATMENT OF SPOUSE

Mrs. Dagmar Kruse of 526 Tenth street, a bride of but a few months, took twelve tablets of bichloride of mercury at 5:30 o'clock this morning with suicidal intent and but for the prompt work of Steward Borchert of the Receiving Hospital, who worked over the woman for two hours, she would have succeeded.

Mrs. Kruse says she had become desperate at the systematic cruelty inflicted upon her by her husband and early this morning attempted to end it all.

The woman, according to her story, arose at 5:30 o'clock this morning, after her husband had struck her in bed. She went into an adjoining room and put twelve tablets of the powerful poison into a glass and after they had dissolved in water, swallowed them.

Then, afraid to go back to her husband, who had remained in bed, she went to the street door, and unlocking it, went into the street. She was dressed in her night gown and in the chill morning she shivered as she hurried down the frost-bitten walk.

LIFE IS SAVED.

Luckily she was discovered in her third array by a policeman and taken to the Receiving Hospital, where Steward Borchert applied the stomach pump and after working diligently for two hours her life was saved.

She told of how she had been abused by her husband and had concluded that life under these circumstances was no longer worth living. Kruse denied

HABEAS CORPUS IS PROMPTLY GRANTED

Student Formally Cleared of Charge of Having Slain Frank Bellows.

Harry G. Kleinschmidt is a free man.

Closely following the refusal of the grand jury last night to indict him, he was released this morning by Superior Judge Harris, who promptly granted the writ of habeas corpus which was argued last Friday.

"Writ may be granted; defendant is discharged," were the brief words in which Superior Judge Harris this morning concluded the habeas corpus proceedings.

The college student who was, in fact, released from a prison cell last night, appeared before Judge Harris at 9:30 o'clock this morning to hear the latter's decision in the habeas corpus matter. He was accompanied by his attorneys, Brewton Hayne and Charles E. Snook. His brother, Franz Kleinschmidt, was the only member of his family present.

IN GOOD SPIRITS.

Before Judge Harris emerged from his chambers the young student and his brother and attorneys stood, hating nervously and looking in a group. All seemed to be in highest spirits.

Judge Harris entered and directed the bailiff to request District Attorney Brown to appear in court, which he did a minute later. Mr. Brown started to say:

"Your honor, in the matter of—"

"I have not called the habeas corpus case," objected Judge Harris, which stopped Brown until the case was registered.

MINNESOTA WAS TOO EASY

Hands Over Money to Strangers on Horse Race and All Disappear.

A. S. Nelsen of 901 1/2 Washington street has appealed to the police to locate two men he says are swindlers and who he alleges, talked him out of $30 by persuading him to give them the money to place on a horse race, they having promised him big returns.

Nelsen says that he is from Minnesota. The men claimed to be from the same place. After striking up an acquaintance, but being careful not to give their names, the individuals told Nelsen that they had a sure thing in the last race at Emeryville on Saturday.

Nelsen yielded to the temptation, placed before him and handed over the money. Now his dream of winning $2,000 for $40 is over as the men have failed to put in an appearance since getting Nelsen's money, the last one, he says, he had at the time.

Captain of Detectives Peterson received a telegram last night from the authorities at Stockton which has convinced him that John T. Smith ex-convict and robber and known as "Twenty Year" Smith, now under arrest in San Francisco for the robbery of a saloon, is not the murder of Special Policeman George White-Meriel.

When Smith was questioned by Captain Petersen, Smith insisted that he was in Stockton on the night Meriel was killed. The Stockton police have notified the local officials that Smith was in Stockton on the night of

The alibi which Smith thus establishes leaves the police but little to work upon in connection with the murder, it having been firmly believed that Smith and Carey were guilty of the crime. The police are still in search of Carey.

GREATEST TREASURES TOTALLY DISAPPEARED

Many of the greatest treasures of the world's literature have totally disappeared. Even so late as 1892 a copy of "The Canterbury Tales" valued, it is said, at $3,500, was used to light a fire in a London church.

The last six books of Spencer's "Faerie Queene" were lost by one of the poet's servants. During the French Revolution an exceedingly valuable copy of "The Golden Legend" was used to light a bonfire.

Many of the valuable letters of Lady Mary Wortley Montagu were destroyed by her relatives. Last Lady Mary's literary honors might be gained at the cost of disgrace to the family name.

According to the Literary Magazine, a servant of Washington used several dresses of Chapin, Greene and Massinger to clean shoes and light fires.

After the death of Ptolemy there was found in his apartments a huge chest filled with letters from the most eminent scholars of the time. The collection was his life's work, and he had used it to repeat requests for it in order to diminish the expenses of firewood.

In the great fire of London in 1592 many manuscripts of the Elizabethan era were lost. Fire in the Cottonian library at Ashburnham House, Westminster, in 1731, destroyed 238 out of 958 manuscripts, and under all of which had fallen into private hands after the dissolution of the monasteries.

The burning of the Strausburg library during the Franco-Prussian war destroyed many valuable works. Among which may be mentioned the records of the trial proceedings in the controversy between Gutenberg and his associates as to whether or not he invented the art of printing.

WANTS BIG CONVENTION

Chicago Anxious, but Refuses to Enter Competition in a Financial Way.

CHICAGO, Dec. 3.—Chicago will not send a delegation to Washington tomorrow to bid for the national Republican convention. The delegation of twenty-five, headed by the Hamilton club committee, selected to obtain the convention, was disbanded yesterday after a conference.

It was decided that Chicago should not enter into competition with other cities to secure the convention in the matter of a financial consideration, but intended, through Congressional committee, to fix Chicago as the place for the next session. In the invitation to the delegates, the Chicago's hospitality will include a first-class convention hall, well financed, and the city will provide for the delegates in the capital in style. A special car had been provided for the delegates, but this order has been cancelled.

KANSAS CITY GOES

A delegation of twenty-seven strong from Kansas City passed through the city yesterday on the way to Washington to bid for the convention. It is said they are in possession of a certified check for $15,000.

Chicago City Council last night adopted a resolution inviting the national committee to send the convention to Chicago.

RICH DISCHARGE SERVANT GIRLS

Money Flurry Causes Eastern Housewives to do Their Own Work.

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—There are more women and girls in New York seeking positions as house servants than there are places for, according to Mrs. W. E. Willmerding, head of the Bureau of Social Requirements. Every ship entering New York is bringing more of them, and the employment agencies are overwhelmed with applications for places. Mrs. Willmerding states that there has been a decided cutting down in the number of servants employed by the wealthy in New York in the past month, which fact is partly responsible for the large number of idle servants. Both the French and German charity homes which care for immigrants are crowded to overflowing, and the managers say it is impossible to find places for the girls who are arriving on every ship.

AMATEUR ATHLETIC UNION HOUSE CLEANING

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—The registration committee of the Amateur Athletic Union has decided to clean house. It is said that athletes in the Metropolitan district have been taking advantage of the leniency of the committee and have been breaking the rules of the union. Fifteen long-distance runners took part in a cross-country run on Sunday which was not authorized by the union and thereby suspended themselves under the rules. It is said that the committee has a long list of athletes who will be suspended at the next meeting.

DOES HE MEAN HOLDING FOR THIRD TERM? U. P. NAT EASY

Think "No Deviation" of Roosevelt Applies to Policies, Not Nomination.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—"I will not deviate one single hair's breadth from what I have said."

That is how Representative Henshaw of Nebraska quoted President Roosevelt in regard to leaving the White House yesterday. The statement is authorized that the President, in talking to Henshaw, referred to his policies and not a third term.

This White House statement was given out when the town began to buzz with the Henshaw version of the interview. It is considered extremely significant. For the last six months the President has studiously refrained from referring to his attitude toward a third term.

OFFICE HOLDERS.

In his official order to officeholders, that they might not be elected delegates to the next national convention committed to the third term propaganda, he said that such a course would be unwise and reprehensible, but he did not forbid officeholders becoming delegates or having their own opinions as to who should be nominated.

The President has frequently been impetioned to stand for another nomination, but his almost invariable response has been a deft turning of the subject and the leading of his visitors to other fields. The construction placed upon the President's actions is that his noncommittal attitude was intended to enable the election of delegates who would vote at the proper time for whomever the President named, and some have insisted that when he is not a remote possibility that when he time arrives the President would be convinced that his nomination alone would save the situation.

CUTS COST OF RAILWAY MAIL

Reductions Due to Readjustment of Pay to Companies for Transporting.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—Reductions in the cost of railway mail service have been made by the Postoffice Department, according to statements made in the annual report of the second assistant postmaster general, James J. McDermott. The reductions were due to a readjustment of the pay of railroad companies for carrying the mails. The total reduction of transportation of the mails thus far made amounts to $381,343, or 3.36 per cent, while the reduction for the pay for railway mail cars was $498,218, or 18.06 per cent.

The total sum appropriated by Congress for the service under the second assistant postmaster general for the year ended June 30 last was $4,455,000. At this time there remains in the treasury an unexpended balance of $988,071, out of which some unsettled accounts must be paid.

FOREIGN MAILS.

The net cost of the transportation of foreign mails during the year was $1,818,115, or 1.18 per cent of the total cost of $1,534,718 pounds and postal cards. The reduction was due to foreign countries from the United States.

There were 410 railroad accidents during the past year in which postal clerks were either killed or injured, or in which mail matter was lost or damaged. Twenty-one clerks were killed, 125 seriously and 362 slightly injured.

DAVID MITCHELL GIVEN FREEDOM

Aged Attorney is Liberated After Being in Prison for Two Years.

David Mitchell, the attorney, who for the last two years has been confined in the county jail awaiting the outcome of a serious charge brought against him by fifteen-year-old Eugene Brown, was declared a free man by Judge Melvin today. Upon the motion of Assistant District Attorney Hynes the case against the accused man was dismissed.

As the trial Mitchell was convicted. Owing to conflicting statements made by the prosecuting witness he was granted a new trial. At the second trial the jury disagreed and Mitchell was waiting for a third trial when the order for the dismissal was made this morning.

Mitchell was represented by Attorney Frick and Gibson. It was shown that there was a conflict of dates and Mitchell was able to prove a strong alibi to show that he could not have been guilty of the crime at the time stated. A woman witness for the defense had kept a diary and showed that Mitchell was in her company when the crime is alleged to have been committed.

Harry Gabrielson, mate of the schooner Jessie Miner, lying in the estuary, was beaten into insensibility by three thugs last night on Adams wharf and robbed of $5, all that he had on his person. He was beaten over the head with a blunt instrument and after being knocked helpless he was relieved of his money. This morning he was taken to the Receiving Hospital by Policemen Powers, where his wound was dressed by Steward Berchert.

Gabrielson says that he was sent ashore by his captain last night to get a bottle of bitters. He had $5 with him and when he started for the vessel held the bottle of bitters and $5 in money. When he reached Adams wharf at 11 o'clock three men approached him and before he could make a move one of them raised a club and brought it down on his forehead, cutting it open for several inches. He fell bleeding to the ground.

Gabrielson says that he can recognize one of his assailants. He is a former longshoreman known as Harry. The police are working on the case.

ASKS FEDERAL AUTO LICENSE

Measure Would Put End to Multiplicity of State Permits Now Demanded.

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—A Federal automobile bill similar to the one introduced just before the close of the last session of Congress will be introduced almost immediately by Congressman Cocks of New York, who had charge of the bill at the last session. That bill was introduced as late as a day that nothing was done with it.

The bill has the backing of the American Automobile Association. It is based on interstate traffic and provides for Federal licensing of motor cars. Those licenses are to be, in addition to the present State license, the only change being that after an owner has taken out a license in his own State he can tour in any other State by obtaining a Federal license.

Under present conditions a car must be licensed in all States in which it travels, some of the States not even giving one day's grace for an owner from another State to obtain a license.

SAYS POWERS MADE THREATS

Witness Testifies Prisoner Declared "Goebel Good as Dead."

GEORGETOWN, Ky., Dec. 3.—At the opening of the trial of Caleb Powers today the commonwealth put Robert Noakes, railroad conductor and labor leader of Rossville, Ill., on the witness stand.

Noakes was jointly charged with Taylor, Powers and Finley with being an accessory to the assassination of Goebel, but escaped indictment, it is alleged, by turning state's evidence. Noakes testified that under the direction of Finley and Powers he took a body of men to Frankfort in November, 1899, while the State election board was in session, for the purpose of intimidating that body. He said he had instructions to see justice was had or "to hang the election commissioners."

After reaching Frankfort he was told by Finley to take the men back to the mountains, as Governor Bradley did not approve of the plan. The witness detailed a conversation with Powers on the train near Harboursville, Ky., in which he said Powers asked him to organize a military company and go to Frankfort, Powers saying in regard to the contest then pending that the "contest will amount to nothing, as Goebel is as good as dead."

On cross-examination, Noakes could not give exact dates and other details in regard to these conversations.

James Howard was brought here from the State penitentiary today to consult with and testify for Powers. Howard is serving a life sentence for the same crime charged against Powers.

THE DEAF MAY HEAR

Second Annual Visit to San Francisco of Geo. P. Way, Inventor of the Way Ear Drum.

About nine years ago Mr. Geo. P. Way, electrical engineer of the Detroit Young Men's Christian Association, could scarcely hear the roaring of his own engines.

As he passed among them, he possessed of perfect hearing. Yet when he removed two tiny devices from his ears, he is quite as badly off as before.

Mr. Way's deafness had been increasing for years, until it had reached the point where he was unable to hear his wife's voice across the dinner table, and his usefulness as an engineer was seriously threatened.

He told him that he was at his post in the dynamo room, one day, and as he was looking at the machinery, he noticed a small object of one of the shafts of the sound of the busy world there came a crashing sound, and he was thrown from his seat. He was in a daze, and he was unable to hear his wife's voice across the dinner table, and his usefulness as an engineer was seriously threatened.

Mr. Way is at the St. Francis Hotel, San Francisco, until next Sunday night. All who are deaf should be sure to call on him. It will cost nothing to learn whether he can help you or not.

Take the Elevator and the attendant will show you to Mr. Way's parlors.

CAPTAIN PETERSEN
WELCOMES HIS MOTHER

Mrs. Amelia Petersen, mother of Captain of Detectives Petersen, arrived yesterday afternoon by steamer from San Diego where she has been for the past two years attending to property interests. Mrs. Petersen will now take up her residence here with her son. She is in poor health, having sustained a fall some months ago, a peculiar result being that the vocal cords were so affected that it has been difficult for her to articulate clearly. Mrs. Petersen feels that she will soon recover her usual good health.

Japan Parrying Exclusion.

Baron Ishii, chief of the Japanese government's bureau of commerce, who recently made a tour of the United States and Canada to study up the immigration question in the interest of the Japanese foreign office, has returned to Tokio and has made unofficially what may be described a fair report of the situation. This is all the more to be commended in him for the reason that the rough treatment he received at the hands of the anti-Japanese mob at Vancouver, B. C., during his stay, was calculated to excite race antagonism and prejudice his mind unduly.

His observations during his visit here convinced him, he asserts, that the opposition to his people in the United States and in Canada is based on race prejudice and is aggravated by labor agitators; he found that it extended also to the Japanese residents in both countries, who resent the influx of their countrymen from the Hawaiian Islands and Mexico. These belong, of course, to the laboring class, and the Japanese who have made their homes here have been quick to understand that they have been the chief cause of the anti-Japanese agitation which has within the past two or three years been in progress all along the Pacific Coast and given rise to the demand from organized white labor for the enactment of an exclusion law. It is, in a measure, the history of Chinese exclusion repeating itself, for the Chinese colony located in the United States previous to the final passage of the exclusion law as it exists did not look with any more favor on an unrestricted influx of their coolie countrymen than the resident Japanese do on the unrestrained admission to the country of unskilled laborers of their own race.

But Baron Ishii has been keen enough to observe that Japanese coolie emigration to the United States and Canada must be stopped. He realizes that if it is not done it will put in peril the interests of those Japanese who peaceably located in these two countries before anti-Japanese agitation began and have since prospered here. He takes the ground, therefore, that his government should take the initiative and prevent laborers emigrating from Japan, and pledging itself to rigidly enforce anti-emigration regulations. He frankly admits that his purpose in recommending such a course to the Japanese government is to stave off the passage of a Japanese exclusion act. Japan's pride would doubtless be wounded by the passage of an act which would discriminate against the race. But it is difficult to understand at the present time how any faith can be placed in any assurance the Japanese government may give to Washington and Ottawa that no more laborers shall be allowed to leave the shores of Japan for the United States or Canada in the light of past experience. Former pledges made by the Japanese government to stop coolie emigration in this direction at the inception of the anti-Japanese agitation were violated as soon as the popular protest here was relaxed. Even the Mikado's orders to stop it to the mainland of the United States were respected for only the briefest period, while the outflow of coolies for the Hawaiian Islands, which is the chief source of trouble, was never restrained. A nation's safety against invasion by an undesirable foreign class rests with itself and the exclusion measures of self-defense it adopts.

The second trial of former Attorney-General Tiley L. Ford has closed without the prosecution calling Ruff to the stand. This brings under renewed scrutiny the peculiar relations existing between the imprisoned boss and the director-general of the graft crusade. For months the public has been regaled through the press with accounts of revelations alleged to have been made by the fallen political dictator. The highly colored stories which flowed in such a sensational stream through prosecution channels are still to be verified. Ruff has not been called to make them good; instead the grand jury on the eve of its final dissolution has brought in a new set of indictments against the star witness and star boarder of Mr. Spreckels' civic decency hippodrome. The public is a trifle impatient to learn what is going on behind the scenes even if a languid, tired feeling has been superinduced by the failure of Spreckels, Heney, Burns & Co. to make their performances come somewhere near fulfilling the promises pictorially presented on their playbills.

District Attorney Langdon is posing as a public purifier in the East, regardless of the fact that he has never prosecuted a single graft nor any other important case, has never argued any of the legal questions raised before the courts, and has generally been absent from the courtroom while the trials were in progress. His office is in the control of others, and the chief witnesses for the prosecution in the Ford case testified that Mr. Spreckels bargained immunity for evidence in his home without the District Attorney being present. As a specimen of Roman virtue W. H. Langdon is decidedly unique.

Once more is heard the familiar demand for an elastic currency—a currency that will expand when credits are impaired and money scarce and contract when confidence is restored and money plentiful. It reminds one of the search for a quality of steel that will expand with cold and contract with heat. It is an indelible dream, impossible of realization because swelling the volume of credit money when credit is shattered or destroyed cannot possibly restore confidence nor relieve stringencies due to congestion on the one hand and loss of credit on the other.

During the eleven months just ended the bank paper and treasury notes circulation increased over $62,000,000. The mint coinage was unprecedented—con to the amount of $35,963,260 being turned out during the month of November alone. Added to this increase in the volume of circulating medium about $100,000,000 in gold has been imported from Europe within the last sixty days. And still it is claimed that the stringency is due to shortness of the money supply.

The Democratic revolt against the leadership of John Sharp Williams flattened out as completely as the opposition to Bryan's Presidential aspirations is flattening out.

President Roosevelt seems rather glad to have Congress on his hands. It is convenient sometimes to have somebody to pass the buck to.

The House refused to cut the rifling out of Uncle Joe's gun. The old rule stand, and they make the Speaker an imposing figure at this time.

The howl of currency legislation would be more intelligible if the howlers could come any ways nearer agreeing on what they want.

POLITICAL STRAWS OF NATION AND STATE

Unprecedented Emigration.

For the ten months of the year ending November 1st, foreign immigration to the United States broke all previous records, totaling 1,029,168. The financial flutter in Wall Street started a good sized panic among the foreign residents of the country and a stampede began to return to their homes. Most of the outgoing foreigners are laborers and their families, as is proved by the fact that they take passage in the steerage and the second cabin.

The month of October broke all previous immigration records. The month of November has, strange to say, reversed the operation by breaking all previous monthly emigration records. The tide of population continues to flow eastward across the Atlantic, and if the present rate is maintained through the present month the emigration of the year will, in all probability, greatly exceed the immigration. According to the records of the North German Lloyd Company, its steamships have carried back to Europe during the eleven months ending November 30th, 446,000 steerage and second-class passengers. This is only one of the trans-Atlantic steamship lines that make a specialty of carrying emigrants back and forth, and yet its vessels alone have carried back to Europe this year up to December 1st nearly one-half as many foreigners as had been brought into the country during the ten months ending November 1st, which was the most active period in the immigration history of the United States. The intensity of the stampede of foreign laborers to get out of the country is illustrated by the report that on Saturday nearly 11,000 sailed for European ports on outgoing steamships, while about two thousand emigrants were left behind on the dock, the departing fleet being unable to accommodate them. According to the latest reports from New York there are no signs of an early abatement of the foreign outflow. Nearly all the steamships sailing from New York this week have already filled their steerage and second-class quarters and orders are still flowing in from the western agencies. What will be the general effect of this unprecedented emigration of unskilled laborers, for they nearly all belong to that class, on the country at large is at present purely a matter of speculation.

The policy of rounding up and arresting tramps and then turning them loose on promise to leave town to prey on some other community is a bad one and is sure to react. Such a course is not a corrective for crime, nor a cure for an intolerable public nuisance. It is simply passing the burden and shifting the responsibility to some other community.

Arizona Will Reappear
As a Candidate for a Separate Statehood

Senator Flint is representing the solid sentiment of Southern California in his announcement that at the coming session of Congress he will offer a bill providing for the admission of Arizona as a separate State.

The population of Arizona is estimated now to be about 350,000, or double the amount reported by the Federal census of 1900. Arizona is second in the United States in the production of copper. It is well advanced in educational institutions. It is rich in agricultural products, in mines and in all material wealth. It has demonstrated its capacity to govern itself and at a general election held under act of Congress November 6, 1906, voted to remain a territory rather than enter the Union with the alien territory of New Mexico.

Congress has heretofore been wilfully blind to the merits and demands of Arizona. Even President Roosevelt, who is justly famous for his principle of the "square deal," has not been awake to the effect that Arizona is an empire of mainly strength, a territory which if admitted to the Union would be a rock of support to the national government.

But the country is now rapidly approaching the time when it will recognize the justice of Arizona's claims to separate statehood. The President has said that he will not again oppose such a measure, and if he shall consent to go so far as to extend his co-operation, Arizona statehood will quickly become a fact assured.—Los Angeles Express

Is President Roosevelt Playing Double With the American People?

It's a good thing for Justice Brewer of the United States Supreme Court that there is no such thing as a free lunch in America and that his tenure of office does not depend upon the mere caprice of the President. Else there would soon be a vacancy on the supreme bench. Justice Brewer has dared say some very plain, pointed things in a public address. The propriety of a Supreme Court Justice making such comment affecting the head of a co-ordinate branch of the Government may be questioned. But the force of what Justice Brewer said cannot be questioned.

Discussing the original draft of the constitution, which made the Presidential term seven years and limited the incumbent to one term, Justice Brewer said:

"In the light of history I think it would have been better to have left the Presidential term of seven years, with the accompanying ineligibility. If that were the provision we should not now have the spectacle of our stenuous President playing the game of hide and seek with the American people."

Is Roosevelt "playing the game of hide and seek with the American people?"—Fresno Republican (Dem.).

Democratic States Turned Republican by
ex-Judge Parker

The World publishes a map of the United States showing the extent of the territory which has become Republican under Mr. Bryan's leadership. But it gives Mr. Bryan some credit which it is hardly fair to withhold from ex-Judge Parker. It was in the Parker campaign that the Democratic party lost Missouri, Idaho, Nevada, Montana and Colorado. It should also be remembered that Mr. Bryan polled 6,306,018 votes in 1900, while Mr. Parker polled only 5,979,041. In 1904, in predicting certain defeat for Mr. Bryan next year, do anti-Bryan Democrats really consider the chances of a substitute candidate chosen at the dictation of the influences which controlled the party in 1904?—New York Tribune.

Bryan Has Composed

Tennessee Promises to be First to Declare in Favor of Roosevelt

It is altogether likely that Tennessee will be the first State to declare for the renomination of President Roosevelt. For that distinction its Republicans are making diligent effort and preparation. The Republican National Committee meets in Washington in a few weeks for the purpose of designating the time and place for holding the next National Republican convention. No suggestion has as yet been made as to the time. As to the place, Chicago and Kansas City appear to be the leading competitors, with present conditions indicating the Missouri town as the probable choice. When the national committee shall have acted the State organizations will be competent to proceed as and when seems best in the choice of delegates to the nominating convention. It was the failure of the Michigan district to await action by the national committee that clouds the ability of its proceedings in choosing prematurely two Cannon delegates. Evidently there was a Congressman who wanted to make sure of a good committee assignment.

Tennessee Republicans plan to hold their convention just as soon as possible after the plan and date of the national convention has been formally named. They propose to bind the delegation "by iron-clad instructions to vote for Theodore Roosevelt and none other."—Los Angeles Express.

Publis Confidence in the President is not in the Least Shaken

The people have such unbounded confidence in President Roosevelt that they have no fear of a financial panic. There never has been a man in the times of Uncle Sam who held within his personality the faith of all the people as does President Roosevelt today. Yet, for all that he must realize that fact, he is the same careful patriot the same even-tempered fighter for the right that he was when he cleaned out the scum from the municipal affairs of New York city. His impress upon history will be indelible, and all the hell-hounds of corrupt politics cannot rub him off the page.—Hartford Sentinel.

Four Years Too Long a

REPUDIATES :: HIS :: SOUL :: MATE Attorney Admits Contracting a Mock Marriage When He Already Had Legal Wife.

CHICAGO Dec 3.—The union of two accordant minds the blending of two perfect harmonious lives into one that in less than a year resolved itself into a large sized domestic riot figured in the criminal cases heard yesterday by Municipal Judge Newcomer in Harrison street court.

The defendant was Robert Gilray, an attorney, 619 Chicago Opera House block 55 years of age. The complainant was Miss Adelaide Lawton Gilray, who supposed she was the wife of the defendant. On October 19 she had her supposed husband arrested charged with threats to kill.

Gilray's assertion that the complainant was not his wife brought in evidence what Judge Newcomer styled the most remarkable and devilish agreement he ever read.

Incidentally the day was the first anniversary of the wedding that took place in Boise City, Idaho. When Gilray declared Mrs. Gilray was not his wife the woman threw up her arms and exclaimed loudly:

"What this man says he is not my husband. What does he mean?"

Whereat she drew from her dress front a carefully folded manuscript:

"DECEIVED ME

Then this man has deceived me. Judge please read that and she presented the document to Judge Newcomer.

Previously in the trial it had been produced in evidence that Gilray had toured the West lecturing on ethical culture for some spiritualist society. Mrs. Gilray prior to their union of souls had been a clairvoyant. Gilray has been a member of the Cook county bar twelve years.

Gilray admitted drawing up the nuptial agreement. It appeared that the psychological nature of common every day marriage licenses at $10 apiece is not of sufficient spiritual superiority to suit Gilray.

TEXT OF NUPITAL AGREEMENT

This was the agreement that Judge Newcomer read:

"I know all men by these presents that we Robert Gilray and Adelaide Lawton, both of Boise City county of Ada State of Idaho, being of the mature age of 21 years and being students of higher thought science and natural law and

"Whereas They recognize the fact that marriage is the sacrament of souls the union of two perfect and harmonious lives in one body and through the great natural law in which no person or persons or as sociation of persons has any part and

Whereas the said Robert Gilray and Adelaide Lawton recognizing these facts and truths do by these presents each for himself or herself do hereby have united themselves in holy hands of matrimony and by these presents the said Robert Gilray declares that he takes the said Adelaide Lawton to be his wife that he will succor protect and love her during the term of life in sickness as well as in health and the said Adelaide Lawton declares that she takes the said Robert Gilray to be her husband and that she will love him in sickness as well as in health.

In witness whereof the said parties have hereunto set their hands and seal this "day of November 1906

The document was signed by both parties and the acknowledgment bore the seal of Thomas L. Martin a notary public.

COURT SHARPLY CENSURES GILRAY

When Judge Newcomer apprised the complainant that the marriage had been only a mock affair she wept and almost fainted. The judge censured Attorney Gilray severely for his conduct.

Gilray admitted that he has a wife living in Yorkville, Canada.

You are masquerading as a lecturer on ethical culture and drawing up such a contract as that," said Judge Newcomer.

You have been an attorney a good many years and you know you were deceiving that woman. I shall place you under a bond of $500 to keep the peace and stay as far from Mrs. Lawton as you can.

You are a lucky man if you are deprived of your privilege to practice law or to represent any sort of a religious sect.

I questioned the marriage but he said it was legal," said Miss Lawton. He spent half a day with me at the Idaho State House showing me laws that he

SORORITIES ARE INSTRUMENTS OF THE DEVIL AND--- CORRUPT LIVES OF GIRLS

Says a Normal School Professor to Chicago Parents

CHICAGO Dec 3.—I have seen gentle modest girls with serious purposes and high aspirations change in only once or twice but many times into shallow and insincere triflers as a result of membership in sororities. It is my wonder that I want to see this evil abated in the interests of humanity." Thus said Charles W. French, vice principal of the Chicago Normal College at a conference of parents and principals on the fraternity problem at the Chicago Normal School. He continued:

"It is not against the boys and girls who form these organizations that I raise my voice for they are their interests are dear to me, but it is against the instrument of the devil which is corrupting them and ruining their lives that I would exert my strongest influence."

"I might speak of the resulting diminishing influence of the teacher, the increasing familiarity of both boys and girls with things which they should not know and which in all decency should be kept from them, the pettiness and ill breeding in public places which would have brought blush to the cheeks of the school children of a former generation an increasing vulgarity of thought and conversation the growth of the tobacco habit and—but the sad list seems endless and I refrain.

SAYS FRATS DESTROY CHARACTER

Surly if there is anything that our schools should cherish and uphold it is mainly and womanly character pure self sacrificing and aspiring to the highest things," said Professor French. Yet who that has seen the chapter house open day and night with its tobacco and profanity and too often orgies lasting into the small hours can fail to see a vicious influence which tends to ruin those who participate and just as certainly to spread its contagion through the body of the school which cannot avoid moral deterioration as long as it cherishes such plague spots in its midst."

"Not all chapter houses are as bad as this but some are far worse and so it is of good and so much of evil flows from them that none can stand under the condemnation."

Still as is their influence upon the school as an institution their influence upon their individual members is more marked and more quickly eventuated into a moral and intellectual decline. I have seen pure minded earnest and promising boys transformed into shallow disreputable loafers with their only bright promise gone and the morning of their lives hopelessly eclipsed.

Spencer W. Smith of the Wendell Phillips High School, the first of the speakers declared that smoking gambling and drinking—the latter not so prevalent—were common practices in the frat house.

I know for a fact this is so," he said. I know of one young man who resigned from his fraternity and told me that six or seven men of his crowd had learned to drink in the house and were still at it. Euchre and domino become too tiresome and poker follows naturally.

ALLEGES UNCLEAN BATHING EXISTS

Councilman Would Break Up Habit of Many Men Using Same Water.

Claiming that there is in operation in this city at the present time baths in which about fifteen men cleanse their bodies at the same time, at the rate of 6 cents each, and that this number is followed by others, although the water is never changed, Councilman Eugene Stachler introduced into the City Council last night a proposed ordinance which will prohibit such practices.

The proposed measure was referred to the ordinance and judiciary committee and the clerk was requested to notify the Board of Health of the baths which Councilman Stachler mentioned.

Stachler's proposed ordinance provides that all baths must be kept in a clean and sanitary condition; that all bath tubs must be lined with porcelain or other suitable metal linings, with proper sewer connections; that only one person at a time can occupy a bathtub and that no other person can use the same bathtub until after the water has been emptied and the tub cleaned.

The proposed measure provides that a fine of not over $100 or imprisonment of fifty days in jail can be imposed for violation.

MINISTER HAS SON IMPRISONED

Youth "Swears Off" Before Justice After Two Days in Jail.

CHICAGO, Dec. 2.—Under oath administered in an Evanston justice court, to which he had been brought on a charge of "drunk and disorderly," William A. MacAfee, only son of the Rev. William A. MacAfee, former pastor of the First Methodist Church of Evanston, now occupying the pulpit of the Wheaton Church, promised yesterday to begin life anew.

His arrest was caused by his father, who allowed him to lie in confinement two days before he granted forgiveness for a long list of offenses covering several years and, according to admissions made during the justice court hearing, including crimes that might have sent him to the penitentiary, such as the signing of his father's name to bank drafts.

CAN'T SHAKE TESTIMONY OF TALBOT

Witness on Stand Calmly Reads Letters Introduced in Case.

(Special to The Tribune.) S. FRANCISCO, Dec. 3.—Sitting calmly upon the witness stand, carefully examining every letter handed to him and guarding his answers to all questions put to him by Attorney Shortridge, William H. Talbot, the millionaire lumber dealer, submitted quietly to a vigorous cross-examination during the hearing of his divorce case this morning. Attorney Shortridge made repeated efforts to entangle the witness, and on one occasion endeavored to persuade him that a certain bit of evidence had transpired at a former hearing; but it was of no use. Talbot told the attorney that the evidence was not in the transcript, and an objection on the part of his attorneys to such questioning was sustained.

IS POSITIVE WITNESS.

Talbot is a positive witness. He is extremely careful in his answers and is abundantly able to protect himself without the aid of his attorneys. Sometimes throughout the entire session of the court not a word is spoken in his behalf by his counsel.

In the proceedings today an effort was made to show that Talbot had kept his children away from their mother during September and October, 1907. At this time Mrs. Talbot, who has been seriously ill at Redwood, had returned to this city, during the absence of her husband, who was in Seattle on business. By his direction, the children, two of whom were ill, had apartments at the Palace Hotel and were under the doctor's care, while their mother was at the family home on Jackson street.

SAW CHILDREN EVERY DAY.

Talbot testified that when he returned to this city, early in October, he forbade the children to be taken home as he did not think the accommodations were good as at the hotel. He said that he saw them every day, but that Mrs. Talbot had not seen them since her illness. In response to questioning he admitted that Mrs. Talbot begged him to have the children sent home, but that he thought it best to leave them where they were, and says he told Mrs. Talbot that she might visit them whenever she desired.

Attorney Shortridge was unable to make Talbot admit that he was endeavoring to separate the mother from the children, but he persisted that what he did was done by direction of the judge.

SAYS WIFE IS SANE.

A hint on the part of counsel for the defense that while Talbot was in the north he believed his wife to be in a poor condition mentally, and therefore not responsible for a letter which she wrote to him, brought forth a denunciation from the witness. He said he had never believed for a moment that his wife was insane.

Several letters were introduced, all written by Talbot to his children, and all containing a message of love to his wife with the hope that she was in good health.

An adjournment was taken at 12 o'clock and the hearing will be resumed at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

WOULD PURCHASE NEW PARK SITE

Councilman Introduces Ordinance to Buy Ground in the Western Portion of City.

Providing that the city purchase another site for a public park, Councilman Eugene Stachler introduced into the City Council last night a proposed ordinance. The site of the proposed park is bounded by the north, by the Thirty-second street, on the east by Union street, on the west by Pershing street, and on the south by Thirtieth street. The measure was referred to the park and boulevard committee without discussion.

The Council passed a resolution directing the Board of Public Works to pay the taxes on property recently acquired by the city for park sites out of the park bond fund. There was a resolution before the Council providing for the appropriation of $400 out of the city general fund for this purpose, but the members of the Council believed that the money should be taken from the park bond fund and it was so ordered.

POSTPONE HEARING FOR STREET OPENING

Upon the advice of the City Attorney the City Council last night postponed the hearing of the matter of opening Fourteenth street, east of Harrison street, until December 16. Councilman Ellsworth stated that the City Attorney declared that the hearing should not be held last night, and upon his advice the matter went over. Edison Adams and others have protested against the opening of the street.

BOSTON LATIN SCHOOL NEARLY 300 YEARS OLD

Arthur Irving Fiske, head master of the Boston Latin school, has issued the catalogue for 1907-8. It announces that the public Latin school for boys is now in its 292nd year. It states that John Hancock, Samuel Adams, Benjamin Franklin, Robert Treat Payson and William Hooper, out of the fifty-six signers of the Declaration of Independence, had some time been members of this school. The school has in its library about 5500 volumes. The total number of boys in the school is now 654, the largest number in its history.

WOMAN AND HER TALENTS.

About one in 100 keeps up her music after marriage, although they may have passed years of their own time and spent many dollars belonging to their fathers in study. The number that drops out in art is even greater, but writing has a fascination difficult to resist. A great deal of the writing done by women comes from homes, more or less comfortable and happy. It is the kind not easily duplicated and it would be nonsense to compel such women to forget their talents. Says a son who has been fitted for his life work by the ability of his mother to earn money at a steady rate.—Chicago News.

Mexican Tramps Killed by Trainmen and the Conductor Wounded.

TUCSON, Ariz., Dec. 3.—In a fight between freight trainmen and two unknown Mexican tramps last night near Shibley station, just east of Benson, both tramps were killed and Conductor Charles C. Roller was seriously wounded.

The fight occurred on the top of a rapidly moving train. Conductor Roller and Brakeman C. P. Killman were attacked by the tramps armed with knives and revolvers. Roller fell with knife wounds in the abdomen, shoulder and hand. Killman was felled and one of the men was pressing a revolver to draw his head when Roller managed to draw his gun and fired, shooting the weapon from the tramps' hand. In the resulting struggle the hoboes were thrown from the train and were later found dead beside the track. Roller was brought to Tucson on a special train. His condition is critical.

ENGLISH WORDS IN GERMAN.

The Kaiser's well-known objection to the use in German publications of foreign words has created German translations for many strictly American words among which "Wollenkruizer" ("sky-scaper") and "grum-mel-mel wagon" ("rubberneck coach") are fair samples. But that English has not been banished may be seen by these words taken from German papers: "Manager," society swell, "champion," "training," "meeting," "snob," "weekend," "loafer," "striker," "mob," "fick dress," "smoker," and "return ticket," while "bank check" is brought within the German lines by being written "bank scheck."

Various Circulation Investigations Have Proven That the Evening Paper Is
Most Widely Read in the Home;
Some Convincing Arguments.

Words of almost endless number have been written on the subject of the evening versus the morning newspapers; their actual values to advertisers and to readers, etc. Varied have been these arguments, many of which have been really interesting, if not convincing.

One thing is certain, this is the day of the daily newspaper. No country in the world has the paper reading habit so firmly fixed in the every-day life of its people. In no country in the world are people so interested in advertisement reading, and in no country are advertisements so profitable and successful.

As regards the merits of the evening and the morning papers, there is but one way to draw an intelligent conclusion and that is by having facts upon which to base a study. One disputes that all newspapers are good advertising mediums. Experience proves this to be a fact. But which paper, the evening or the morning, produces absolutely the best results? The argument that the morning is the more profitable because it is made during the night when there is more time, more quietness and more news, sounds very logical. At first thought this would seem good logic, too. But the argument doesn't hold good because it is the evening paper which invariably carries the most advertising and possesses the largest circulation. The argument that the morning paper is best "because it is read by business men and the higher class of workers" seems reasonable, and yet, when we consider that the people read the morning paper before the commencement of work, the argument loses its force, for we must take into consideration the fact that the wife in the home buys and a chance to read the news, to say nothing of the advertisements. The man who reads it on his way to work necessarily hasn't much time to spare in reading either the news or advertisements. He Claiming that M. Martin, who had applied for a license to conduct a saloon at Sunol, had not obtained sufficient signatures to his application and that the proposed saloon would be located next to the postoffice at Sunol, and would therefore have to be passed by women and children, John A. Trimmings requested the Board of Supervisors this morning to deny the application. Trimmings claims that the proposed saloon would be the rendezvous of loafers and dissolute characters.

As Adolph Andrada withdrew his name from Martin's application, the Board ordered the petition denied.

The following applied for saloon licenses, and their applications will be heard on December 12: Fred Van Doren, northwest corner Redwood avenue and East Fourteenth street; M. Poncet, Mission San Jose; C. Delme, Sunol, opposite railroad depot.

Emil Richter, Jones avenue and San Leandro road, and H. V. Snowball, San Leandro road, opposite Moss avenue.

POLICE STOP JAPANESE
IN "EXCITING" WORK

"Hello, hello. Is that you Cap. Lynch?" said a voice over the telephone at the police station this morning. "Yes, this is Lynch. What can I do for you?" was the reply.

"Well, this Frank J. McDonald, a barber at 1139 Market street, who you would hurry a squad of policemen out here right away. There is something dangerous about a man named McDonald, who is running about with a long knife, measuring and measuring the street, jotting down notes and acting like a mad."

Now they are moving over onto San Pablo avenue taking in a big scope of country. Trouble is brewing here, for there is a large crowd following the Japanese. It is expected they are making out a spot on which to throw shells. Maybe some men-o-war-men are going to land at the foot of Twenty-second street and take this section of the town. Hurry up with your men."

Policeman George Powers, who has been a Jackie himself and knows something about warfare, was hurried to the place and there found about six Japanese in the act of surveying the country in the neighborhood of McDonald's barber shop. Powers soon learned that the Japanese were being made to see if the country at the request of the Japanese Board of Trade, which regulates business methods of the Japanese.

HOW IT WORKS.
Under the rules of the Board of Trade, Powers was told, those entering in business here had to be located, something after the manner saloon men are restricted near school houses. No Japanese can open a business within a hundred yards of another place of business in outlying districts.

At Twenty-second and Market streets a Japanese was about to open a shoe-maker's shop. Another Japanese in the neighborhood declared that it was in the prohibited zone. A word was sent to his place of business under the regulations of the Board of Trade. The surveys were being made to see if the man already established in business had a legitimate cause for complaint. Powers was told to keep a watch on the matter, and the surveyors went to report to headquarters.

Created by advertisements with having the largest circulation in their respective States and cities. Certain it is that they print the most good advertising.

It is well known that newspapers, whether evening or morning, are good advertising mediums. That is why the newspapers of the country are so successful right now. The evening newspaper is the most popular, however, as advertising space is so much more valuable in the evening paper. The evening paper gets the best of the advertising business of the country. Advertising supremacy means demonstrated results. The advertiser, and results means proved circulation.

This is the day of the evening newspaper, not because I say so, but because the advertising business proves it to be so.

NABS BURGLAR
BUT LOSES HIM*Culprit Flees and Slides Down
Banisters From the Third Story.

(Special to The Tribune.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 3.—An early morning scuffle with a burglar, an exciting chase, and an escape on the part of the culprit was the experience of Alder Darrow, who lives at the Hotel New York, California and Larkin streets.

Darrow was awakened shortly after 4 o'clock by hearing some one in his room, which is on the third floor. He got up and grappled with the intruder, who made little effort at defense, and whose whole aim seemed to be to get away unaided. Darrow tried to hold on to him, but the latter succeeded in slipping from his grasp, and darting through the door, made his escape by sliding down the banisters, and thence out to the street.

It was later found that Darrow's room was the second visited by the thief, Ward Hopkins, a bell boy, having been robbed of $18 which was in a pocket of his vest. Hopkins is a sound sleeper and did not hear the intruder, who must have entered his room by using a pass key.

The police have a meager description of the man, who is described as about five feet eight inches in height, wearing dark clothes and a soft hat.

BARNEY WAS ONE OF THE BEST KNOWN BANKERS AND REAL ESTATE MEN IN THE CITY, AND WAS AT THE HEAD OF THE KNICKERBOCKER TRUST COMPANY, UP TO THE TIME IT WENT INTO THE HANDS OF THE RECEIVER.

"MOTH AND FLAME" BIG SUCCESS AT LIBERTY

An intensely interesting present-day social drama was presented for the first time in Oakland at the Liberty Playhouse last night and merits a good week's business. The production is that of the great Clyde Fitch success, "The Moth and the Flame." It is played with much color, yet without being melodramatic. The "Zam," it is hardly a play for children, but for grown-ups it has a wholesome lesson.

The name tells the plot in a figurative sort of way. The story of an unworshiped girl who loves a very worldly man, a man who at heart knows no reformation, yet so cleverly in his deception that he leads the girl who believes in him to the altar. Then at the very moment when vows are about to be exchanged, there comes the woman (one of several) who has wronged. Here the climax is reached and it is highly impossible to describe the scene and not spell melodrama. Indeed it takes the best efforts of Bishop's players to prevent it from being so.

All members of the cast give finished representations. Isotta Jewel as Marion Wolton, the near-wife, is dainty and makes such a charming bride-to-be in the second act that one cannot but help wishing that she might be married after all. Landers Stevens as the worldly Edward Fletcher, gives a touch to a rather thankless part. Henry Shumer's death at the end of act one prevents the continuation of a very entertaining character. Henry C. Mortimer is cast in a part that suits him well; Lillian Elliot proves her ability to do character work in excellent manner and the remainder of the players are at their best. The scenic effects are good. Particularly effective is the church interior in the second act. "The Moth and the Flame" will be continued throughout the week.

"ISLE OF CHAMPAGNE" ON FOR SECOND WEEK

The second week of "The Isle of Champagne" had a propitious opening at the Idora Park Opera House last night. A large audience was in attendance and the performance of the melodious opera was thoroughly enjoyed. The audience seemed in the mood to appreciate everything that was in the performance and the members of the company were in the temper to respond to the enthusiasm that came from over the footlights.

"The Isle of Champagne" was better last night than it was a week ago. All the wrinkles have been smoothed out and the show runs along smoothly. The music is full of dash and vigor. When interpreted under the baton of Paul Steinborn, it has a soft and feeling that is irresistible. There are a number of pretty songs, some exceedingly graceful and catchy dance strains and some rich ringing ensembles that delight all lovers of music who attend the performance.

In the fun-making, honors belong to Ferris Hartman, Walter De Leon and Walter Cullert, principally, and in the singing to Sybil Page Wallace Brownlow and Doris Goodwin. Of course, these are not the only ones responsible for the high order of the entertainment, for

FAMILY CAT ATTACKS SLEEPING INFANT

APPLETON, Wis.—The family of Alex. Perrodin, while entertaining company, wheeled a baby carriage containing a 18-month-old baby into another room. The child was soon sleeping, but attracted attention by its stifled coughing and Mr. Perrodin sprang into the room with a light to meet a sight that frightened him. Crouched like a panther, with its claws sunk into the flesh on either side of the infant's neck, the family cat had suddenly become a fiendish animal seeking to smother the child. The cat's head lay on the baby's mouth obstructing breathing either from the nose or mouth and already the child appeared to be dead. The cat snarled ominously when Perrodin neared the carriage, but frenzied by the danger his child was in, he caught the cat in his bare hands and threw it to the extremity of the room, from which it was soon driven. The animal acted like a tiger that had drunk of blood, and showed fight to everyone that neared it. Investigation showed the baby was unconscious. It lay as white as marble in the carriage, and at first it was believed it had already passed away, but stimulants soon revived it.

A Home Made Happy by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

About two months ago our baby girl had measles which settled on her lungs and at last resulted in a severe attack of bronchitis. We had two doctors but no relief was obtained. Everybody thought she would die. I went to eight different stores to find a certain remedy which had been recommended to me and failed to get it when one of the storekeepers insisted that I try Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I did so and our baby is alive and well today.—Geo. W. Spence, Holly Springs, N. C. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy always cures and is pleasant and safe to take. ## NO CABBAGE OR ONIONS IN FLAT

Iowa Landlords Put Clause in Lease Prohibiting Cooking.

DES MOINES, Ia.--Do you abhor the smell of boiling cabbage? Does the odor of frying onions make you ill? If they do come to Des Moines.

That city now is the onion and cabbage hater's paradise. For even though you may live in a flat you will not have to be annoyed by the smell of vegetables. Des Moines landlords have said so. And what they say they mean. It was the Des Moines Landlord's Association that first ruled that no babies could occupy their flats. And they went even further. They put it in the lease, and when one young couple brought a young daughter into the world it was a Des Moines landlord who put out the family for violating the terms of the lease.

BAR ALL ODORS.

Now it is something else. In leases now being made in Des Moines is the following provision:

"Enjoining always that by these provisions said lessee covenants and agrees that the cooking of any cabbage or onions, regardless of quantity, shall work a forfeiture of this lease and all rights hereunder shall cease to be upon violation of the terms of the lease."

So stick and onions and the New Eng-

KNEELS IN PRAYER IN PRISONERS' PEN

NEW YORK--When Patrolman Thomas Ryall, of the court squad, 14 Butler street, Brooklyn, entered the court prison pen he found a score of prisoners standing close against the walls, while a powerfully built East Indian sailor, who had been arrested as a vagrant, facing the high barred window, knelt in prayer on a large blueish handkerchief.

The sailor was a Mohammedan. Although he could speak little English he made it clear to the policeman that, unable to locate the gun at daybreak in his cell at the Amity Street Police Station, where he spent the night, he had waited until he was taken to court about 7 a. m. to pray.

Other prisoners said that when the East Indian spread his improvised prayer mat and knelt two or three of the crowd pushed him. With a snarl of rage the big man leaped to his feet and swept those about him clear to the walls of the pen. When Ryall entered, the dingy room was as quiet as a chapel.

The East Indian having managed to explain that he had been left behind by a British merchant ship which sailed from South Brooklyn Saturday, he was held by Magistrate Dooley until the British Consul could be informed of his plight. The police, unable to understand his name, called him Ali Baba. He made friends of all of them quickly.

A RESTLESS TENANT.

"I'm tired of being penned up in this pen," said the young specimen of the crochets horrid. "Can't I go out and play?"

"No, you can't," responded the mother snake. "You stay right here and play with your rattle."---Chicago Tribune.

U. S. THIRD IN CHINA TRADE

Great Britain and Japan Lead in Imports on Foreign Goods.

Great Britain ranked first in importations of foreign goods into China, according to Vice Consul General A. W. Pontius' report.

Japan came second, with the United States third and Germany ranking fourth. In some articles the United States made a splendid showing in comparison with other countries. Of a total of more than $9,000,000, Great Britain took over 30 per cent. In plain gray sheetings and drills the United States had a clear field, and although showing a decrease over 1905, it competitively more than held its own. In plain gray sheetings and jeans, owing to the bad condition of trade, there was a large decrease compared with 1905, but as this was also evidenced by other countries the United States can look forward to securing in future more than its usual share in these articles.

FLANNEL IMPORTS DECREASE.

A large decrease in plain cotton flannel was experienced during the year, but the United States still ranked foremost in its importation. According to the customs returns, 1906 showed the first introduction of American velvets.

In copper ingots, slabs and ore the United States ran close to Japan, but showed a large falling off from 1905.

BUILDING SUPPLIES GAIN.

In building materials the United States has shown an increase over previous years.

In hardware American products have made a good showing, and the steady increase that is being shown every year is

THE ABODE OF TORMENT OF BRIDGE PLAYERS

Speaking before a large and fashionable audience at the Madison house, Dublin, Father Vaughan said that he had had a dream about the subject. As he lay awake in Dublin on Tuesday night he dreamed he saw the old bridge of heaven, the well known London bridge referred to in the story of the blind men and a elephant, and he dreamed that he was watching the game of bridge being played on the bridge. He dreamed that he was watching the game of bridge being played on the bridge. He dreamed that he was watching the game of bridge being played on the bridge.

COWBOYS HUNT FROM AUTOS

Abandon Bucking Bronco for Use in Stalking Montana Big Game.

NEW YORK--The death knell of the bucking bronco has been struck. The cowboy of Montana has taken to automobiles and within the last few weeks no less than a dozen hunting parties, composed entirely of cowboys, have left Billings and other Montana cities for the hunting grounds in automobiles. This news was imparted to the staff of the Madison Square Garden. "Red Pete" Perkins, a noted hunter who lives near Billings, who came to New York a few days ago and strolled into the Automobile Show at Madison Square Garden. "Red Pete" had not discarded his broad-brimmed sombrero and blue flannel shirt, so his appearance in the Garden caused considerable comment.

The big cowboy strolled from one exhibit to another carefully inspecting automobiles. He displayed a knowledge of the cars that astonished the salesmen. He asked prices, made note of them, gathered a basket of pamphlets and placed an order for ten Maxwell machines.

Needless to say, "Red Pete" attracted more attention from the visitors at the show than did the automobiles. All wondered at his being there and what on earth he wanted with automobiles in Montana. Finally he met an agent for the Maxwell automobile concern whom he had known in the West.

ON "OTTERMOBILE" BUSINESS.

"Howdy, Pete!" exclaimed the agent, grasping his hand. "What in the world are you doing here? You haven't quit the alkali for this merry village, have you?"

"Not by a jugful!" responded the hearty Westerner, shoving back his sombrero.

"Jest here on ottermobile business," he explained.

"What use can you find for an automobile in your country?" asked the agent.

"Why we have had ottermobiles out in my country for many a day. I'm a goner for ottermobiles. I've got a new one that they have turned loose in Butte. There have been no end of hunting parties leave Butte and Billings in ottermobiles and we find the blamed old smoke wagons can beat the cow pony all hollow in chasing an otter and other big game."

"You see the kind of a start this way, and before I tell you any more I'll tell you that Pete ain't goin' to have any more have nothing on him in the huntin' line, and Bill, what I say goes. Now, as I was sayin' the whole thing started with the ottermobile huntin' which began as soon as the law was started this way. One day into town comes a foot wagon plum full of ottermobile. I'd jest taken a run in to get more fodder for your very truly and I see the hull thing."

COWPUNCHERS DIDN'T BELIEVE HIM.

"Well, I found out before long that in order to be up to snuff the thing was to beat the other fellow to it, and that's exactly what I come to this big town for. I'm organizing a big hunting party for next season, and the hull outfit is goin' to do the trick in ottermobiles."

"Now what I come in here for is to get you to boost the game and set me right with the what do ye call 'em. The hull outfit of big game shooters? Well, Red Pete will take care of all the rest."

"Incidentally the fun we had with that proposition when I put it up to my pardners in camp was a whole lot, but we took a look at the thing and by the eternal hills, what I say goes. Now, as I was sayin' the whole thing started with the ottermobile huntin' which began as soon as the law was started this way. One day into town comes a foot wagon plum full of ottermobile. I'd jest taken a run in to get more fodder for your very truly and I see the hull thing."

THE FACE AND THE EMOIONS.

The face and the emotions. The action of the facial nerve---the nerve of expression, as anatomists call it---producing lines which in course of time become permanent. The same is true of many other emotions and states of mind, and those which are dominant in the life of the individual will be long producing permanent changes in the face. The secret of the beauty which age cannot rob is to possess a beautiful mind, and a beautiful mind is a beautiful face. The secret of the beauty which age cannot rob is to possess a beautiful mind, and a beautiful mind is a beautiful face. The secret of the beauty which age cannot rob is to possess a beautiful mind, and a beautiful mind is a beautiful face.

POLICEMEN WERE HIS EASY GRAFT VICTIMS

NEW YORK--When Henry C. Koetting, who says he is a clerk of No. 535 Rogers avenue, Brooklyn, was arraigned before Judge McAvoy on the charge of forgery, and had entered a plea of guilty, Policeman Harry A. Arnold of the Traffic Squad, an alleged victim, was called to the witness stand. Judge McAvoy asked him what he knew about the case.

"I was on post on Nassau and Spruce streets on the afternoon of August 14," replied Arnold. "When Koetting came along and asked me if I had seen Commissioner Bingham go by in his automobile. I told I had not. Then the man showed me a badge on which was engraved 'Officer--Commissioner's Office, No. 143.' He told me he had been with the commissioner for some time. The prisoner handed me a check for $5, drawn to bearer on the Title Guarantee and Trust Company and asked me to have it cashed for him. I went to a store and got the money."

When the storekeeper discovered the check was fraudulent Koetting was arrested.

When asked if he was the only victim Arnold replied:

"Not at all; the man who has the post next to mine gave up $12. Other policemen along the line gave up more money. I guess we were all easy marks."

Koetting wecked when he heard Arnold give his testimony. Judge McAvoy sentenced Koetting to serve five years and ten months in State prison.

Federal Control, He Says, Would Benefit All

NO ARBITRARY RATE CUTTING DESIRED

Anti-Trust Law Should Not Be Repealed, But Amended.

Improvements in the actual handling of the railroads, and all this, rapidly as possible. Ample, safe, and speedy transportation facilities are even more necessary than cheap transportation. Therefore, there is need for the investment of money which will provide for all these things while at the same time securing as far as is possible better wages and shorter hours for their employees. Therefore, the rate must be fixed and reasonable regulation of rates, we should be the first to protest against any arbitrary and unthinking movement to cut them down without the fullest and most careful consideration of all interests concerned and of the actual needs of the situation. Only a special body of men acting for the National Government, under authority conferred upon it by the Congress is competent to pass judgment on such a matter.

Those who fear, from any reason, the extension of Federal activity will do well to study the history not only of the national banking act, but of the pure-food law, and notably the meat inspection law recently enacted. The pure-food law was opposed so violently that its passage was delayed for a decade, yet it has worked unexcelled and immediate good. The meat inspection law was even more violently assailed, and the same men who now denounce the attitude of the National Government in seeking to oversee and control the workings of interstate commerce, then asserted that we were "discrediting and ruining a great American industry." Two years have not elapsed, and already it has become evident that the great benefit the law confers upon the public is accompanied by an equal benefit to the reputable packing establishments. The latter are better off under the law than they were without it. The benefit to interstate common carriers and business concerns from the legislation I advocate would be equally marked.

PURE-FOOD LAW.

Incidentally, the action of the pure-food law the action of the various state food and dairy commissioners showed in striking fashion how much good for the whole people results from the hearty cooperation of the federal government. It is officials in several of these states who primarily to the action of these state commissioners that we owe the enactment of this law; for they aroused the people, first to demand the enactment and enforcement of State laws on the federal and then the enactment of the federal law, without which the state laws were largely inoperative. There must be the closest co-operation between the national and state governments in administering these laws.

In my message to the Congress a year ago I spoke as follows of the currency:

REFERS TO MESSAGE OF YEAR AGO ABOUT THE CURRENCY.

"I especially call your attention to the condition of our currency laws. The national bank act has served a great purpose in aiding the enormous business development of the country, and within ten years there has been an increase in circulation of over $240,000,000. For several years evidence has been accumulating that additional legislation is needed. The recurrence of such crop seasons emphasizes the defects of the present laws. There must soon be a revision of them, because to leave them as they are means to our country a business disaster. Since your body adjourned there has been a fluctuation in the interest on call money from 2 per cent to 30 per cent and the fluctuation was even greater during the preceding six months. The Secretary of the Treasury has been in and by action put a stop to the most violent period of oscillation. Even worse than such fluctuation is the advance in commercial rates and the uncertainty felt in the sufficiency of credit even at high rates. All commercial interests suffer during each crop period. Excessive rates for call money in New York attract money from the interior banks into the speculative field. This depletes the fund that would otherwise be available for commerce, and commercial borrowers are forced to pay abnormal rates, so that each fall a tax in the shape of increased interest charges is paid on the whole commerce of the country."

DEFECTIVE SYSTEM.

"The present statement of these facts shows that our present system is seriously defective. There is need of a change. Unfortunately, however, many of the proposed changes must be ruled from consideration because they are simply variations of the old system, and would tend to disturb existing rights and interests. We must also rule out any plan which would materially impair the value of the United States 2 per cent bonds now pledged to secure circulation, the issue of which was made under conditions peculiarly creditable to the treasury. I do not press any special plan. Various plans have recently been proposed by expert committees of bankers. Among the plans which are possibly feasible and which certainly should be brought to your attention by the present Secretary of the Treasury, the essential features of which have been approved by many prominent bankers and business men. According to this plan national banks should be permitted to issue a certificate of deposit for their capital in notes of a given kind, the issue to be taxed at so high a rate as to drive the notes back when not wanted in legitimate trade. This plan would not permit the issue of currency to give banks additional profits, but to meet the emergency presented by times of stringency.

"I do not say that this is the right system. I only advance it to emphasize my belief that there is need for the adoption of some system which, while it is automatic and open to all sound banks, so as to avoid all possibility of discrimination and favoritism. Such a plan would tend to prevent the spasms of high money and speculation which now obtain in the New York market, for at present there is so much currency at certain seasons of the year, and its accumulation at New York tempts bankers to lend it at low rates for speculative purposes; whereas at other times when the crops are being moved there is urgent need for a large amount of money, and the farmer is forced to pay exorbitant rates. It must never be forgotten that this question concerns business men generally quite as much as bankers, especially in this true of stockmen, farmers and business men in the West, for at present at certain seasons of the year the difference in interest rates between the East and West is from 8 to 10 per cent, whereas in Canada the corresponding difference is but 2 per cent. Any plan must, of course, guard the interests of Western and Southern bankers as carefully as it guards the interests of New York or Chicago bankers, and must be such that the money will be available to the merchant no less than from the standpoint of the city banker and the country banker."

URGES NEED OF IMMEDIATE ACTION ON THE CURRENCY.

I again urge on the Congress the need of immediate attention to this matter. We need a greater elasticity in our currency, provided, of course, that we recognize the even greater need of a safe and secure currency. There must always be the most rigid examination by the National authorities. Provision should be made for an emergency currency. The emergency issue should, of course, be made with an effective guaranty and upon conditions carefully prescribed by the government. Such emergency issue must be based on adequate securities approved by the government, and must be issued under a heavy tax. This would permit currency to be issued when the demand for it was urgent, while securing its retirement as the demand fell off. It is worth investigating to determine, whether officers and directors of national banks should ever be allowed to loan to themselves. Trust companies should be subject to the same supervision as banks; legislation to this effect should be enacted for the District of Columbia, and the Territories.

Yet we must also remember that even the wisest legislation on the subject can only accomplish a certain amount. No legislation can by any possibility guarantee the business community against the results of speculative folly any more than it can guarantee an individual against the results of his extravagance. When an individual mortgages his house to buy an automobile he invites disaster; and when wealthy men or men who pose as such, or are unscrupulously or foolishly eager to become speculators, indulge in reckless speculation, especially if it is accompanied by dishonesty, they jeopardize not only their own future but the future of all their innocent fellow-citizens, for they expose the whole business community to panic and distress.

REVENUE.

The income account of the nation is in a most satisfactory condition. For the six fiscal years ending with the 1st of July last, the total expenditures and revenues of the National Government, exclusive of the postal revenues and expenditures, were, in round numbers, $3,455,000,000, and expenditures, $3,275,000,000. The net excess of income over expenditures, including in the latter the fifty millions expended for the Panama Canal, was one hundred and ninety million dollars for the six years, an average of about thirty-one millions a year. This represents an approximation between income and outgo which it would be hard to improve. The satisfactory working of the present tariff law has been chiefly responsible for this excellent showing. Nevertheless, there is an evident and constantly growing feeling among our people that the time is rapidly approaching when our system of revenue legislation must be revised.

THE TARIFF.

This country is definitely committed to the protective system and any effort to uproot it could not but cause widespread industrial disaster. In other words, the principle of the present tariff law could not be wisely be changed. But in a country of such phenomenal growth as ours it is probably well that every dozen years or so the tariff should be carefully scrutinized so as to see that no excessive or improper benefits are conferred thereby, that proper revenue is provided, and that our foreign trade is encouraged. There must always be as a minimum a tariff which will not only allow the collection of an ample revenue but which will at least make good the difference in cost of production here and abroad; that is, the difference in the labor cost here and abroad, for the well-being of the wage-worker must ever be a cardinal point of American policy. The question should be approached purely from a business standpoint, both the time and the manner of the change being such as to arouse the minimum of agitation and disturbance in the business world, and to give the least play for selfish and factional motives. The sole consideration should be to see that the sum total of changes represents the public good. This means that the subject cannot with wisdom be dealt with in the year preceding a Presidential election, because as a matter of fact experience has conclusively shown that at such a time it is impossible to get them out of the minds of the people. In my judgment the wise time to deal with the matter is immediately after such election.

INCOME TAX AND INHERITANCE TAX.

When our tax laws are revised the question of an income tax and an inheritance tax should receive the careful attention of our legislators. In my judgment both of these taxes should be part of our system of Federal taxation. I speak confidently about the income tax because one scheme for an income tax was declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court, while in addition it is a difficult task to be exercised to see that it was not evaded by the very men, whom it was most desirable to have taxed, for if so evaded it would, of course, be worse than no tax at all, as the least desirable of all taxes is the tax which bears heavily upon the honest as compared with the dishonest man. Nevertheless, a graduated income tax of the proper type would be a desirable feature of Federal taxation, and it is to be hoped that one may be devised which the Supreme Court will declare constitutional. The inheritance tax, however, is both a far better method of taxation, and far more important for the purpose of having the fortunes of the country bear in proportion to their increase in size a corresponding increase and burden of taxation. The Government has the absolute right to decide as to the terms upon which a man shall receive a bequest or devise from another, and this point in the devolution of property is especially appropriate for the imposition of a tax. Laws imposing such taxes have repeatedly been placed upon the National statute books and as repeatedly declared constitutional by the courts, and these laws have been the basis of the progressive principle, after a certain amount is reached the bequest or gift, in life or death, is increasingly burdened and the rate of taxation is increased in proportion to the remoteness of blood of the man receiving the bequest. These principles are recognized already in the leading civilized nations of the world. In Great Britain all the estates worth $5000 or less are practically exempt from death duties, while the increase is such that when an estate exceeds five million dollars in value and passes to a distant kinsman or stranger in blood the Government receives all told an equivalent to nearly a fifth of the whole estate. In France so much of an inheritance as exceeds $10,000,000 pays over a fifth to the State if it passes to a distant relative. The German law is especially interesting to us because it makes the inheritance tax an imperial measure, while allowing to the individual states of the Empire a portion of the proceeds and permitting them to impose taxes in addition to those imposed by the Imperial Government. Small inheritances are exempt, but the tax is so sharply progressive that when the inheritance is still not very large, provided it is not an agricultural or a forest land, it is taxed at the rate of 25 per cent if it goes to distant relatives. There is no reason why in the United States the National Government should not impose inheritance taxes in addition to those imposed by the States, and when we last had an inheritance tax about one-fifth of the States levied such taxes concurrently with the National Government, making a combined maximum rate, in some cases as high as 25 per cent. The French law has one feature which is to be heartily commended. The progressive principle is so applied that each higher rate is imposed only on the excess above the amount subject to the next lower rate, so that each increase of rate will apply only to a certain amount above a certain maximum. The tax should if possible be made to bear more heavily upon those residing without the country than within it. A heavy progressive tax upon a very large fortune is in no way such a tax upon thrift or industry as a like tax would be on a small fortune. No advantage comes either to the country as a whole or to the individuals inheriting the money by permitting the transmission in their entirety of the enormous fortunes which would be affected by such a tax, and incident to its function of revenue raising, such a tax would help to preserve a measurable equality of opportunity for the people of the generations growing to manhood.

NO SYMPATHY WITH IDEA THAT WOULD BREAK UP THE HOME

We have not the slightest sympathy with that socialistic idea which would try to put laziness, thriftlessness and inefficiency, which would strike to break up not only merely private property, but what is far more important, the home, the chief prop upon which our whole civilization stands. Such a theory, if adopted, would mean the ruin of the entire country, and it would bear heaviest upon the weakest, upon those least able to shift for themselves. But proposals for legislation such as this are advanced for directly opposite to this class, especially the workingmen, to recognize what Lincoln pointed out. The fact that there are some respects in which men are obviously not equal; but also to insist that there should be an equality of self respect and of mutual respect, an equality of rights before the law, and at least an approximate equality in the conditions under which each man obtains the chance to show the stuff that is in him when compared to his fellows.

ENFORCEMENT OF THE LAW

A few years ago there was loud complaint that the law could not be invoked against wealthy offenders. There is no such complaint now. The course of the department of justice during the last few years has been such that it is evident that no man stands above the law, that no corporation is so wealthy that it can not be held to account. The department of justice has been as prompt to proceed against the wealthiest malefactor whose crime was one of greed and cunning as to proceed against the agitator who incites to brutal violence. Everything that can be done under the existing law, and with the existing state of public opinion, has been done to break up the lawlessness which has been so prominent a feature of the business community for indulging in practices which are profoundly unhealthy, but which, unfortunately, the business community has grown to recognize as well-nigh normal. Both the present condition of the law and the present temper of the public mind are such that it is difficult to get at a task of extreme difficulty to render it at the real wrongdoer in any case, especially in the case of a corporation. It is from every standpoint far preferable to punish the prime offender by imprisonment rather than to fine the corporation, with the attendant damage to stockholders.

The two great evils in the execution of our criminal laws today are sentimentality and technicality. For the latter the remedy must come from the hands of the legislatures, the courts and the lawyers. The other must depend for its cure upon the gradual growth of a sound public opinion which shall insist that regard for the law and the demands of reason shall control all other influences and emotions in the jury box. Both of these evils must be removed or public discontent with the criminal law will continue.

CONCERNING ABUSES IN GRANTING OF INJUNCTION WRITS.

Instances of abuse in the granting of injunctions in labor disputes continue to occur, and the resentment in the minds of those who feel that their rights are being invaded and that liberty of action and of speech unreasonably restrained continues likewise to grow. Much of the attack on the use of the process of injunction is wholly without warrant, but I am constrained to express the belief that for some of it there is warrant. This question is becoming more and more one of prime importance, and unless the courts will themselves deal with it in an effective manner, it is certain ultimately to demand some form of legislative action. It would be most unfortunate for our social welfare if we should permit many honest and law-abiding citizens to feel that they had just cause for regarding our courts with hostility. I earnestly commend to the attention of the Congress this question, so that some way may be devised which will limit the abuse of injunction, and protect those rights which from time to time it unwarrantably invades. Moreover, discontent is often expressed with the use of the process of injunction by the courts, not only in labor disputes, but where state laws are concerned. I refrain from discussion of this question as I am informed that it will soon receive the consideration of the supreme court.

The federal courts must of course decide ultimately what are the respective spheres of state and nation in connection with any law, state or national, and they must decide definitely and finally in matters affecting individual citizens, not only as to the rights and wrongs of labor but as to the rights and wrongs of capital, and the national government must always see that the decision of the court is put into effect. The process of injunction is an essential adjunct of the court's doing its work well; and as preventive measures are always better than remedial measures, the national government has been at no time more commendable than when it is recklessly or unnecessarily used, the abuse should be censured, above all by the very men who are properly anxious to prevent any effort to shift the onus of their necessary power. The court's decision must be final; the protest is only against the conduct of individual judges in needlessly anticipating such final decision, or in the tyrannical use of what is nominally a temporary injunction to accomplish what is in fact a permanent decision.

ACCIDENTS

The loss of life and limb from railroad accidents in this country has become appalling. It is a subject of which the national government should take supervision. It might be well to begin by providing for a federal inspection of interstate railroads, somewhat along the lines of the federal inspection of steamboats, although not going so far; perhaps at first all that it would be necessary to have would be some officer whose duty would be to investigate all accidents on interstate railroads and report in detail the causes thereof. Such an officer should make it his business to get into close touch with railroad operating men so as to become thoroughly familiar with every side of the question, the idea being to work along the lines of the present steamboat inspection law.

The national government should be a model employer. It should demand the highest quality of service from each of its employees, and it should care for all of them properly in return.

LIABILITY OF EMPLOYEES AND EIGHT-HOUR LAW

Congress should adopt legislation providing limited but definite compensation for accidents to all workmen within the scope of the federal power, including employees of navy yards and arsenals. In other words, a model employers' liability act, far-reaching and thoroughgoing, should be enacted which should apply to all positions, public and private, over which the national government has jurisdiction. The number of accidents to wage-workers, including those that are preventable and those that are not, has become appalling in the mechanical, manufacturing and transportation operations of the day. It works grim hardship to the ordinary wage-worker and his family to have the effect of such an accident fall solely upon him, and on the other hand, there are whole classes of attorneys who exist only by inciting men who may or may not have been wronged to undertake suits for negligence. As a matter of fact a suit for negligence is generally an inadequate remedy for the person injured, while it often causes altogether disproportionate annoyance to the employer. The law should be made such that the payment for accidents by the employer would be automatic instead of being a matter for lawsuits. Workmen should receive certain and definite compensation for all accidents in industry irrespective of negligence. The employer is the agent of the public and on his own responsibility and for his own profit he serves the public. When he starts in motion agencies which create risks for others, he should take all the ordinary and extraordinary risks involved, and the risk he thus assumes should ultimately be assumed by the community at large, the public. Only in this way can the shock of the accident be diffused, instead of falling upon the man or woman least able to bear it, as is now the case.

SHARING BURDENS.

The community at large should share the burdens as well as the benefits of industry. By the proposed law, employers would gain a desirable certainty of obligation and get rid of litigation to determine it, while the workman and his family would be relieved from a crushing load. With such a policy would come increased care and accidents would be reduced in number. The national laws providing for employers' liability on railroads engaged in interstate commerce and for safety appliances, as well as for diminishing the injury to employees of railroads should be permitted to work, should all be strengthened wherever in actual practice they have shown weakness; they should be kept on the statute books in thoroughgoing form.

The constitutionality of the employers' liability act passed by the preceding Congress has been carried before the courts. In two jurisdictions the law has been declared unconstitutional and in three jurisdictions its constitutionality has been affirmed. The question has been carried to the Supreme Court, the case has been heard by that tribunal and a decision is expected at an early date. In the event that the court should affirm the constitutionality of the act, I urge further legislation along the lines advocated in my message to the preceding Congress. The practice of putting the entire burden of loss to life or limb upon the victim or the victim's family is a form of social injustice in which the United States stands in unenviable prominence. In both our federal and state legislation we have, with few exceptions, scarcely gone further than the repeal of the fellow-servant principle of the old law of liability, and in some of our states even this slight modification of a completely outgrown principle has not yet been secured. The legislation of the rest of the industrial world stands out in striking contrast to our backwardness in this respect. Since 1885 practically every country of Europe, together with Great Britain, New Zealand, Australia, British Columbia, and the Cape of Good Hope has enacted legislation embodying in one form or another the complete recognition of the principle which places upon the employer the entire burden of risk in the various lines of industry. Urge upon Congress the enactment of a law which will at the same time bring federal legislation up to the standard already established by all the European countries, and which will serve as a stimulus to the various states to perfect their legislation in this regard.

EIGHT-HOUR LAW.

The Congress should consider the extension of the eight-hour law. The constitutionality of the present law has recently been called into question, and the Supreme Court has decided that the existing legislation is unquestionably within the powers of Congress. The principle of the eight-hour day should be rapidly and as far as practicable be extended to the entire work carried on by the government, and the present law should be amended to embrace contracts on those public works which the present wording of the act has been construed to exclude. The general intention of the eight-hour day should be the goal toward which we should steadily tend, and the government should set the example in this respect.

FOR COMPULSORY INVESTIGATION OF INDUSTRIAL DISPUTES.

Strikes and lockouts, with their attendant loss and suffering, continue to increase. For the five years ending December 31, 1905, the number of strikes was greater than those in any previous five years and was double the number in the preceding five years. These figures indicate the increasing need of providing some machinery to deal with this class of disturbances in the interest alike of the employer, the employee and the general public. I earnestly recommend to the consideration of the Congress the matter of creating the machinery for compulsory investigation of such industrial controversies as are of sufficient magnitude and of sufficient concern to the people of the country as a whole to warrant the federal government in taking action.

The need for some provision for such investigation was forcibly illustrated during the past summer. A strike of telegraph operators seriously interfered with telegraphic communication, causing great damage to business interests and serious inconvenience to the general public. Appeals were made to me from many parts of the country, from city councils, from boards of trade, from chambers of commerce and from labor organizations, urging that steps be taken to terminate the strike. Everything that could with any propriety be done by a representative of the government was done, without avail, and for weeks the public stood by and suffered without recourse of any kind. Had the machinery existed and had there been authority for compulsory investigation of the dispute the public would have been placed in possession of the merits of the controversy, and public opinion would probably have brought about a prompt adjustment.

Each successive step creating machinery for the adjustment of labor difficulties

Everything that can be done under the existing law, and with the existing state of public opinion, which so profoundly influences both the courts and juries, has been done. But the laws themselves need strengthening in more than one important point; they should be made more definite, so that no honest man can be led unwittingly to break them, and so that the real wrongdoer can be readily punished."

in the price of lumber, but there is certain to be more rapid and heavier rise in the future. The present actual consumption of lumber is certainly the time-greatest as the annual growth; and if the consumption and growth continue unchanged, practically all our lumber will be exhausted in another generation, while long before the limit is actually exhausted, the people of the United States will have felt in many blighting ways upon our national welfare. About 26 per cent of our forested territory is now reserved in national forests; but these do not include the most valuable timber

"We need," says President Roosevelt, "a greater elasticity in our currency; provided, of course, that we recognize the even greater need of a safe and secure currency. lands, and in any event the proportion is too small to expect that the reserves can accomplish more than mitigation of the trouble which is ahead for the nation. Far more drastic action is needed. Forests can be harnessed so as to give to the public the full use of their mercantile value, and at the same time to protect the forest, any more than it is a detriment to a farm to furnish a harvest; so that there is no parallel between forests and mines, and no one can completely used the one without destroying the other. The development of the forest as a national asset, like as emphatically a national asset, are as emphatically national as the rivers which they feed, and which flow through so many States be-our forests have been used in the past and as most of them are still used, will be either wholly destroyed, or so damaged that they will be of little or no further effective use can be made of them again. All these facts are so obvious that it is extraordinary that it should be necessary to repeat them. In the newspapers, in the land, every writer in an ordinary school education, ought to be able to see that the forests of this country are being used in the country, that the forests which

MINERAL LANDS.

In the eastern United States the mineral fuels have already passed into the hands of large private owners, and those of the West are rapidly following. It is thus impossible to conserve them as the West has conserved and not utilized them. It would be well to protect the people against unjust and extortionate prices, so far as that can still be done. What has been accomplished in the great oil fields of the Indian Territory by the action of the Indian title, offers a striking example of what can be accomplished in a poor country. In my judgment the Government should have the right to keep the fee of the coal, oil and gas fields in its own possession and to lease the rights to develop them under proper regulations; or else, if the Congress will not adopt this method, the coal deposits should have been sold to the Government, so that as public utilities, the right to mine could be separated from the title to the soil. The regulations should permit coal lands to be worked in sufficient quantity by the several corporations. The present limitations have been absurd, excessive, and unworkable, and often have rendered it necessary that there should be either fraud or else abandonment of the work of mining on the coal.

I further can mention to the members the extension of the Instructional General Service to be possible for an extension of the parcel post service on the rural routes. There are now 38 rural routes serving 1,000,000 people. The extension of the parcel post service to the rural routes is one of the interests of the inhabitants of the country in obtaining their supplies. The same considerations have been drawn up to enable the farmer and the country storekeeper to have the same facilities as the city dweller. It is hoped that the good policy for the government to do everything possible to aid the small town and the country district. It is desirable that the country district should not be left behind. The government has a very optimistic convention has passed a very strong resolution in favor of placing the fourth class postmasters under the civil service law. The administration has a plan to place the post office inspectors under the civil service law. The policy of the government to remove an inferior class postmasters gave for reasons connected with the good of the service and it is endeavoring so far as possible to remove them from the domain of political patronage. ## TO INTRODUCE BUSINESS METHODS IN ADMINISTRATION

To draw attention to two government commissions which I have proposed and which have already done excellent work in this line, to do with the organization of the scientific work of the government with the least possible waste, without plan and in 1905, were so unevenly distributed a none the less existing principle, that the government itself has to take the place of plan and in 1905. This commission's chief object is to introduce a planned and efficient development and operation in the place of the uncoordinated and often chaotic group of work which has been the pre-

This has led individuals to further study of the work on which they enter service and this study has resulted in increased interest in their service in other lines of work. It is my intention to submit to the Congress in the next future a special message on these subjects.

OCEAN MAIL SERVICE

I call to your special attention to the unsatisfactory condition of our foreign mail service, which is because of the lack of interest in such thing by the Government. It is done through foreign laws and which participation is very small and central manner has concerned is done in a manner that conceals a serious barrier between us and the world.

The Government is in no judgment to set to work seriously to make our ocean mail service correspond more closely with our out commercial and industrial growth. The only thing that is made by the ocean mail act of May 18, 1913, even at this time the act was known to be inadequate in various particulars.

Since that time events have transpired which in our history we have acquired Hawaii, the Philippines and lesser islands in the Pacific. We are steadily promoting the great work of uniting all the continents of waters of the Atlantic and the Pacific.

is making a profit of over $3,000,000 by rendering a cheap and inefficient service. That profit I believe should be devoted to strengthening our maritime power in those directions where it will best promote our prestige. The country is fastidious with the facts of our maritime impotence in the harbors of the great empires of South America. Following the profits of the shipbuilding will we lose our only American steamers to Australasia and that loss of the Pacific has become a serious embarrassment to the people of Hawaii and has wholly cut off the Samoan Islands from regular communication with the Pacific coast. Fuzo Sound in the year 1891 lost over half (four out of seven) of our American steamers trading with the Orient.

We now pay under the act of 1891 for a statute mile out and to .80 knot American mail steamships built according to a type plan as valuable as service and as fast as the American Steamships Company's speed and service. The mail steamship of 10 knots or only 12 miles a mile out and it is steamships of this speed and type which are needed to meet the requirements of mail service to the American Islands (including the Philippines) and to Australia, New Zealand, and the Pacific Islands. I strongly recommend to enforce a simple amendment to the ocean mail act of 1891 which shall authorize the postmaster general in his discretion to enter into contracts for the transportation of mails to the Philippines and to Australia, New Zealand, and the Pacific Islands, and to raise up to exceed $4 a mile for steamships of 10 knots or upwards subject to the restrictions and obligations of the act of 1891. The profit of $3,000,000 which has been mentioned will fully cover the maximum annual expenditure and it is believed will be a permanent fund. It is believed will at the same time establish the lines so urgently needed. The proposition involves no new principle but permits the efficient discharge of public functions now inadequately performed.

"Our coast line," says the President, "is on the Pacific just as much as on the Atlantic. The interests of California, Oregon and Washington are as emphatically the interests of the whole Union as those of Maine and New York, of Louisiana and Texas. The battle fleet should now and then be moved to the Pacific, just as at other times it should be kept in the transit of the battle fleet from one ocean to the other will be comparatively easy. Until it is built I earnestly hope that the battle fleet will be thus shifted between the two oceans every year by the Straits of Magellan to visit the Pacific Coast. Sixteen battleships are going under the command of Rear Admiral Evans, while eight armored cruisers and two other battle-cruisers and four torpedo destroyers are also going. No fleet of such size has ever made such a voyage, and it will be of very great educational use to all engaged in it. * * * This trip to the Pacific will enable us to provide for them."

TOMMY BURNS IS NOW UNDISPUTED CHAMPION

Wears American Flag and Redeems Himself--Moran and Attell Are Now Far Apart.

BY EDDIE SMITH.

Tommy Burns, undisputed champion of the world, is the title that the husky Canuck has a right to tack to the name of his name from now on. The clean cut victory that the conqueror of Bill Squires won over Gunner Moir has now made him the champion of England, Australia and America. The fighter from America, who has been quoted as saying that he was a Britisher as well as Moir, redeemed himself and somewhat dispelled the idea that he ever said to the English sport writers that he was an Englishman, as well as Moir, by entering the ring with an American flag neatly tied around his waist.

Burns through this victory will pick up a nice little bit of money in England before coming to America. The purse set up by the club for the contest was $1,500, of which Burns received by far the greater amount, although it is not definitely known just how much he did receive.

In a program received this morning from the champion we are informed that the contest was for the world's championship and $2,000. Burns scribbles right under this announcement, "not so bad for Moir."

This would lead us to believe that the champion at no time feared the Englishman and that the talk of his having such wonderful punching power was a joke. The prices of admission to the contest were just a trifle steep, the cheapest being $15.75, the next $26.25 and the top price $52.50, no so bad for old England.

The result of the contest is disappointing to the promoters who expected a renewed interest in the heavyweight game if the Gunner won. The contest is also the end of the international contests for many years to come.

Burns has now cleared up all the champions and as he has promised to take on Jack Johnson when he returns the next championship battle in which there is a chance for a change of the title will no doubt be between Burns and Johnson. The negro is set on the idea of battling with the Burns lad and when Tommy steps off the steamer at New York the big black will be right there to challenge him. The security of heavyweights in both England and Australia has made it so easy for a champion with power to easily defeat his rivals to be developed, that the foreigners have forgotten that their American cousins have also been developing champions of some ability.

The prospects for an international championship contest between Owen Moran and Abe Attell are not as bright as they were a few days ago. Abe at first put up a bar to the contest by demanding a weight that the little fellow from across the sea could not make and now that this has somewhat been overcome, he again sets up a barrier to the contest by demanding a ridiculous purse, of which he wants the lion's share.

Abe at first demanded $5000, win, lose or draw, and then demanded a $10,000 purse which should be split 75 per cent to the winner and 25 per cent to the loser. The largest house that Abe ever fought to was in San Francisco, when he met Eddie Hanlon, and they drew $1000. Just how the Hebrew boxer figures that a contest between him and Moran should be worth $10,000 is beyond the imagination of the writer or the promoters.

Jim Coffroth has made an offer to put the little fellows on New Year's day at Colma and give them a guaranteed purse of $5000 and the privilege of taking 60 per cent of the gate receipts. This is an excellent offer for two little fellows and both Attell and Moran should be glad to accept it.

The managers of Young Ketchel and Joe Thomas did not meet last night and select the referee for their contest as was expected, and the selecting of the third man was laid over until tonight, when Harry Foley, who has acted as manager of the Californian since he turned professional, returns from his honeymooning trip somewhere in the southern part of the State.

It is expected that Foley will be back today and that the selecting will be done some time tonight. The selection of a referee should not be a very hard matter for the men to agree on, as both have fought before and each man has an abundance of confidence that he is able to beat the other, regardless of the referee.

Sparks from the Carburetor

BY T. P. MAGILLAN.

Now that Tommy Burns has polished off the champion of England and that, too, before a mob of swells, we can see some excuse for the high hat.

As the season for chestnuts is here, we feel that we can remark that Gunner Moir still thinks Burns a hot old name.

Cockey O'Brien declares that he and Al Wickes are merely intellectual friends.

Weather indications for Reliance Athletic Club Friday night: Arena fast; bouts hot.

In Kansas City recently one of the aldermen voted against the free baths. From this we infer that it takes all kinds of people to make Kansas City.

From what we can learn, the Flight Trust of San Francisco may be dead, but there are a few gentlemen who seem disinclined to let the corpse rest in peace.

When Cap Ferry heard the returns from the Burns-Moir fight he remarked: "Just another lemon squeezed; that's all."

Report from San Francisco says Jack (Twin) Sullivan gave a man a match to light his pipe with. Later developments prove that the story was unfounded. It was a toothpick.

They may ridicule that ten dollar bird with the trouserless all they like, but we know a few sporting men who would not object to getting in closer touch with a few of the species.

Although Tommy Burns disposed of Gunner Moir in handy fashion, a big black cloud in the form of Jack Johnson continues to haunt Tommy's dreams.

Since the easy downfall of Tommy Burns, Owen Moran must feel like a white black bird in that dock of English fighters.

Alfie Wickes says he will wait until he gets the news by word of mouth before he will believe Burns trimmed Moir. Alfie wants to know "how the hell we know about it already."

Although he would prefer to lift the America cup, Sir Thomas Lipson seems disposed to take a flyer at the Brooklyn Yacht Club's trophy, don'tcherknow. Any old cup would look pretty good to Sir Thomas.

LICK HIGH SCHOOL MAY PLAY LOS ANGELES TEAM

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 3.—If the Lick School football team can win from Woodland and Berkeley High schools, it is the intention of the management to invite the Los Angeles High School to San Francisco for a game Dec. 21.

The Lick team returned from Los Angeles last Saturday night and they are not at all discouraged over the showing they made against the southern team. The back and gold players hold that they were at a great disadvantage on the tan bark field, which was new to them and which interfered greatly with their style of play. They also claim that the heavy heat bothered them a great deal, and in a measure worked against them after a few minutes of play.

Lick was at a great disadvantage in the matter of weight, the southerners outweighing them about fifteen pounds to the man. Still with all these disadvantages the Lick team believe that should they meet Los Angeles in San Francisco they could probably win.

Lick is scheduled to meet Berkeley High for the second time next Saturday afternoon. The winner will play Woodland Dec. 4 for the championship.

Reliance Athletic Club Expects Big Crowd For Ward-Flynn Go

JIM FLYNN, THE COLORADO FIREMAN, AND BOB WARD, THE HARD-HITTING SAN FRANCISCO SCRAPPER. THIS PAIR WILL FURNISH THE MAIN EVENT AT THE RELIANCE CLUB'S BOXING SHOW FRIDAY NIGHT.

Advance Sale of Seats Is Large for the Fight

Manager Shirk of the Reliance Athletic Club declared this morning that the advance sale of seats for the Reliance Club's boxing show Friday night, when Jim Flynn and Bob Ward, the crack heavyweights, will furnish the main go, have exceeded all expectations.

Shirk says that the fans have shown greater interest in the coming show than in any previous show and he declares that he will miss his guess badly if Friday night's entertainment does not establish a record gate for the Piedmont rink.

It is only natural that the fans should make preparations to witness the next fight given by the popular organization, for in the history of the boxing game in Oakland there has never been staged such a classy card as that which will be presented Friday night.

The main event of the evening, between Bob Ward and Jim Flynn, is one of those pugilistic attractions which one can almost feel is a guaranteed contest, the reputation of the fighters being such as to insure the fans a thrilling six rounds of fighting. Paul Mullens, Ward's manager and trainer, was in town last night and announced that his charge was in perfect condition and ready to enter the ring at a moment's notice.

Mullens wanted it thoroughly understood that the men were to be allowed to fight at all times and that they must take care of themselves in the break-aways. "For," said Mullens, "my man is in this contest to win. I believe that he is capable of beating any of the heavyweights, not excepting Tommy Burns, and I figure that Flynn, who is, in my estimation, as tough as any of the big fellows, is the first stepping stone to the championship."

Ward is indeed confident and when he enters the ring he will be backed in this confidence by the followers of the old four-round game in San Francisco. Timothy J. McGrath, one of the best known and capable trainers in America, has the fighting fireman in charge and has assured his friends that Flynn has left no stone unturned in his endeavor to get in the best possible condition. Flynn's fighting ability and his gameness are well known to the fans and his game contest with big Jack Johnson has made him one of the most popular fighters at present on the coast.

Judging from the betting talk Flynn will be installed the favorite in the betting, but that is only natural as he has had the greater amount of experience and is far the best known. It is well understood, however, that the backers of the Colorado fighter will not have to give very big odds, as Ward is just well enough known to make the betting public take notice of his fighting ability and awful punching power.

Five other contests are listed to take place the same evening, including two six-round bouts, and the fans of this side of the bay will certainly get a run for their money that will give them good gossip for many days to follow the 6th of December.

Olympic Club to Entertain Ladies

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 3.—Friday evening will be ladies' night at the Olympic Club, and the entertainment will consist of a series of swimming events especially arranged for the occasion, together with several musical numbers by the Columbia Park Boys' band.

The feature event will be the special 100 yard match race between George Bromley and Scott Leary for a valuable trophy. 440-yard dash includes the entries of Tom Laine, S. C. Baldwin, E. J. Dawson, William Fomero and H. Hienz. The balance of the program will consist of a scratch race for intercollegiate swimmers, novelty race, obstacle race, relay race for the cup offered by Al Bullion, diving for plates and tug of war. The affair on Friday night is for the members of the Olympic Club, and their lady friends only.

At the regular weekly meeting of the athletic committee held last night it was decided to hold the annual cross country run on Washington's birthday, the original date for the two mile contest, instead of New Year's day, and that the traditional club run through the park for members of the club take place on January 1 as usual. Regular swimming classes are to be held in the Post street tank, and certain hours each day are to be set aside for instruction in this sport.

The boxing committee will continue to conduct the weekly try-outs on Wednesday evening in the handball courts at the Biddy street building, and all amateur boxers are invited to put in an appearance. The middle of January is the time set for the tournament under the auspices of the club.

This is fine quail weather, but the birds don't seem to realize it.

MacLagan Will Wrestle Two Japs

Local sport enthusiasts will have an opportunity of looking over a new sort of game at Dreamland next Monday evening, when the much-talked-of Japanese jiu jitsu style of wrestling is to be introduced by Leopold MacLagan, the "Irish Giant."

MacLagan, who has never been beaten at the game of teth little brown men, is to tackle two japs expected imported for the express purpose of taking some of Mac's coin. They are T. Tan and L. Hiral, brought over to this country by M. Koto, a Japanese interpreter of this city, who is betting MacLagan $1000 that he fails to toss them both on the same evening.

MacLagan has already started training at the San Francisco Athletic Club. He is being handled by Frank McDonald, assistant manager of Jim Flynn, and further assisted by two Jap exponents of the game, and big Charlie Miller, who acted as sparring partner for Flynn. Miller weighs 217 pounds. The Irish Giant himself stands 6 feet 7 inches in his stocking feet and weighs 210 pounds.

Al. Neill Will Fight C. Murray

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 3.—Al Neill and Abdul the Terrible Turk are to come together for a twenty round fight before the Bay City Athletic Club tomorrow evening at catch weights.

Neill recently got a decision over Charles Murray at Bakersfield and is credited with a fifteen round draw with Jack O'Brien. The Turk also met O'Brien, losing on a foul.

Pacific Company Wins at Football

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 3.—On Saturday afternoon the football teams of the Baker & Hamilton and the Pacific Hardware and Steel Company met on the gridiron at Recreation Park in a hotly contested game of football.

The latter team won out by the close score of 5 to 0, the touchdown being made by Bekeart, captain and fullback on the victorious eleven. The "Pacific" now claim the championship of the hardware teams.

Lanagan Deserts Football for Law

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Dec. 3.—James F. Lanagan, the noted coach, will bid adieu to the gridiron at the end of the present season and will give his undivided attention to the law.

Mr. Lanagan will join the firm of Thomas, Gerstle, Frick & Beady, the well known attorneys of San Francisco.

Daly Makes Fine Run in Billiards

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 3.—In the national three-cushion billiard championship game here last night, John Daly of Chicago defeated Harry Cline of Philadelphia, 59 to 48, and is now tied with Cline for first place.

The two will play for the title emblem and $1000 prize money. Daly's high run was 5, while he averaged .52, while Cline's high run was 5 and his average .50.

Basketball Games Attract Attention

Two games of basketball played in the gymnasium at Cogswell School on Saturday furnished some interesting competition between the girls from Lowell High School, Alameda High School, Cogswell and Berkeley High schools. In the morning Cogswell defeated the girls from the University town by a score of 11 to 7 and in the afternoon Alameda beat Lowell 24 to 21. The games were well attended and indicate an increased interest in this branch of sport among the high schools.

Berkeley Tied for Basketball Honors

BERKELEY, Dec. 3.—In the bay counties preliminary of the State Y. M. C. A. basketball tournament, the Berkeley team is tied with the Rivals of San Francisco, each team having made perfect scores.

The other teams, the Centrals and Pre-tusians of San Francisco, are pretty well out of the running. The final games are to come off Wednesday and Friday of this week.

Wednesday morning the Berkeley team will meet the Pre-tusians on the latter's court in San Francisco. They formerly defeated the Pre-tusians by a score of 72 to 11. The same day the Rivals and Centrals will play on the local court in the evening. Friday night Berkeley plays the Rivals of San Francisco, also at the local association's building.

If the local team is not disappointed in its hopes of beating the Rivals, they will be the champions of the sub-league, and will then play two series of games with Santa Cruz and Stockton, who have been declared the champions of their respective leagues. The winner of these games will be champions of Northern California.

The finals of the State championship will be played off at Long Beach next spring. The winner of the Southern California tournament will then meet the winner of the Northern games.

The Berkeley intermediates will meet the San Jose Spartans Saturday night in a return game. In the first meeting of the two teams the Spartans won by a score of 27 to 23.

Another series of basketball games in which the local association team is taking an interest is that under the auspices of the Pacific Athletic association. The preliminaries of this series are being played off between high schools, athletic clubs and association teams, and the winners in each class will play for the State championship.

ENGLISH PRESS CENSURES TACTICS OF TOMMY BURNS

The Sportsman Gives American Champion Little Credit for Winning the Battle.

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—Although giving him all the credit for beating "Gunner"

Moir in the heavy weight battle in London last night, the English press is not well pleased with the victory won by Tommy Burns, according to the extracts from the English papers cabled here early this morning.

The English believe Burns to be an American, while, as a matter of fact, he is a Canadian, and it is evident that much of his unpopularity is due to that fact. Burns attempted to make a speech when he entered the ring at the National Sporting Club for the purpose of explaining his nationality, but he was hissed down. Despite his victory, after a fight which all admit was his from the third round, he was hissed.

That Burns had all the better of the fight from the beginning is admitted by the Sportsman, which says Moir was badly used up, while "Burns, on the other hand, had not turned a hair and not only left off without a mark, but even the parting of his hair was not disarranged."

Continuing, the same paper says: "It was not the fault of Burns that the splendid crowd that packed the National Club in every part had to sit out such a disappointing show. Moir was the man to blame. It is not our policy to go back on a loser, but Moir was absolutely painful. "He went into the ring a model, well-trained man, evidently as hard as a board, and with a pull of over a stone in weight and the advantage of two and one-half inches in height. Yet his blows lacked the power of a feather weight."

"He was uncertain and ill at ease from the outset. Indeed, his nervousness was so apparent that even Burns could not help smiling. Though outclassed and out-generalled, Moir seemed incapable of altering his methods. He was thrown off his guard by the wily man in front of him and so worried by his seconds that at times he appeared altogether at a loss as to what to do."

"We on this side did not see the best of Burns for the single reason that Moir could not extend himself an inch. The winner has a nasty habit of beating in with his head on the neck or cheek of his opponent. Moir was hampered a bit this way and looked to be holding more than he really was."

"Under the most favorable conditions, however, Moir could never hope to make any showing with Burns, who will, despite the disappointing display given by his opponent last night, experience very little, if any, trouble in beating whoever may be put up against him on this side of the Atlantic."

ROALTA DEFEATS MARY F. IN YESTERDAY'S STAR EVENT

Tom Williams' Colt Breezes Home by 4 Lengths--Long Shots Get Money--Turf Gossip.

BY LEE DEMIER.

About as ordinary a lot of horseflesh as could be gathered together made up the fields in yesterday's card and the result was a bunch of form reversals. Most every race resulted in a spectacular finish and the crowd-witnessed crowd witnessed stirring sport. The bookies, however, got away with most of the coin.

When Lockfaw took the opening event by a scant nose in a thrilling drive from Nick Stoner, he averted the biggest surprise of the season. Lockfaw's colt was quoted at 100 to 1, and led all the way and was only beaten in the last stride. Stoner also rode a long race and from now on will bear watching.

Captain, Burnett, at the pleasing odds of 16 to 1 upset the stew in the second race, by easily taking B. M. Brattain, choice, into camp, and won going away in the stretch, and although he closed very fast he could not overtake the position holding. Koenig's Lulu was down a very weak ride by Moreland and had to be content with third place.

The third race which was a split of the second, brought about the defeat of the 7 to 10 favorite, Progress, by Meara. Meara's colt was slow to get going after making a poor start, but under a strong vice gained ground rapidly in the stretch and beat the leaders one by one, passed the wire a couple of lengths to the good. Progress was knocking in each end in a few more strides would have lost the place to The Reprobate.

J. Coffey's chestnut colt, Red Ball, at the juicy odds of 25 to 1, was the candy in the fourth race. Miller had the lead, Karl going well, but when he came to the wire, and when ready finished like a whirlwind in the stretch, and just his denouement left at the wire to beat out Jack Adams by a short head. Nhe Spm came with a belated rush and grabbed the little end of the purse.

In a nip and tuck finish of three, Gormale under an energetic drive, forged to the front rapidly and got to the wire first, but when ready finished like a whirlwind in the stretch, and just his denouement left at the wire to beat out Jack Adams by a short head. Nhe Spm came with a belated rush and grabbed the little end of the purse.

Miller got Roalta away flying and setting a winning pace, simply unmatchable all the way. Mary F. did the best she could and held second place safe from Massa.

NEW YORK—A tall young man with an air of determination walked into the corridor of the "Ansonia and walked once to the desk. As he walked he mumbled to himself:

The clerk straightened himself up, gave a hitch to his necktie so that the two carat stone in the ring on his third finger caught the glare of the electric lights, and said:

"Where do you think you are—in the Auditorium in Chicago or in Mills Hotel No. 27?"

"Check that," replied the tall young man. "I am here to do my duty. I understand that you are maintaining a hotel and poultry farm on the top of the hotel, which, as you know, without a permit

SOLID SETS IN HARRIS' SHOW

"The Lion and the Mouse" Coming Thursday to Macdonough Theater.

One notable feature of the production of "The Lion and the Mouse," which Henry B. Harris is sending to the Macdonough Theater next Thursday evening is the scenery. Every piece of which was built in England. They do things differently in "the light little isle," particularly when it comes to the building of "sets" needed in the production of a play. Take the second act of the great Charles Klein drama, which takes place in the private library of John Burckett Ryder, the richest man in the world. The main entrance to the room is by means of large double doors, the casement of which is crested and flanked by spires.
There is no sham about these doors
they are solid black oak, with knobs and locks and the arched doorway is of hand-carved oak, the whole weighing over half a ton. When this production reaches the stage door the "grips" at the local playhouse have a fit and long for American scenery, which is made of canvass and thin frames. The arrangement of "The Lion and the Mouse" is for three nights, with a matinee Saturday. This is the first time the place has been seen in Oakland since the San Francisco fire.

WIFE OF DEAD FIREMAN THANKS CITY COUNCIL

The following note of thanks from Mrs.
Edward Brandt, widow of the fireman who was killed by the City Council last night:
"We wish to thank you for your kindness and respect shown in our late bereavement and also for the resolution.
Respectfully,
Mrs. E. BRANDT."

DASHES ASHORE IN SNOW STORM

In Spite of Wild Panic
All Passengers Are Saved.

HALIFAX, N. S., Dec. 3.—The admiralty office will at once begin an investigation to place the blame, if any, for the wreck of the Canadian Pacific line steamer Mount Temple, which struck the La-have Ironbound ledge during a thick snow storm yesterday while bound from Antwerp to St. John, N. B.

The indications are that the Mount Temple will be a total loss.
The work of transferring to the main land 480 passengers and the crew who remained on Ironbound Island all night was resumed today, and it was expected that by night all would have reached this city.
The 150 passengers who were taken to Bridgewater by the tug Trusty late yesterday arrived in Halifax at 2 o'clock this morning. A second trainload arrived during the forenoon.

WONDERFUL FEAT.
The saving of all of the Mount Temple's passengers, under conditions dangerous to the rescued and rescuers alike, is regarded as a feat unexcelled in the annals of marine disasters in the North Atlantic.

When the ship struck the rocks the hundreds of immigrants, among whom were more than 200 women and children, were thrown into a panic. The officers and crew had difficulty in making the foreigners understand that there was no immediate danger and when daylight came and the storm cleared, the panic was over.
When the steamer struck the seas swept over her and for hours passengers stood waist-deep in water. All suffered terribly from the cold. As soon as order was restored, a line was taken ashore from the vessel and by means of it the women and children were transferred to the island.

LANDED IN THREE HOURS.
The fishing schooners Hazel, Virginia and Guide, and the tug Trusty assisted in the rescue. Within three hours all were landed safely upon the island.
Late in the afternoon the tug Trusty took 150 of the foreigners to Bridgewater and these, after being supplied with food and dry clothing, were brought to Halifax on a special train.
The immigrants are of diverse races, including Austrians, Poles, Galicians and Russians. The majority of them are bound for the Canadian northwest, Ontario and Quebec.

RICH MERCHANT TO RETIRE

One of the most recent events in local business is the notice of Mr. L.
Schwartz, proprietor of the Lion Clod-ding Company, that he intends quitting business and engaging in other enterprises.
"It is impossible for a man to look after too many large concerns," said Mr. Schwartz, "and to give them that undivided attention which is necessary to insure success. Oakland is a magnificent place in which to do business and I have enjoyed a very profitable experience during the past four or five years. I find, however, the close application and confinement necessary to store life is telling seriously on my health and I have embarked in other enterprises which will give me much more freedom."
The Lion Clothing Company as will be seen from an announcement in another column, will be closed tomorrow so that the entire stock can be marked down ready for the big opening of its quitting-business sale on Thursday morning. Full particulars of which will be published tomorrow evening.

THROWS CHEER AT ACQUITTAL OF WOMAN

Slayer of Senator Weeps
As Freedom Is Granted.

the lone juror, who was holding out for some form of punishment, Juror Julius H. Prigg, gave in, the verdict of acquittal was agreed on.

WOMEN CROWD TO COURT.

Almost three-quarters of an hour before the time for the opening of the court at 10 o'clock, the courtroom began to fill with spectators, the majority of them women.

A few minutes before 10 o'clock word reached the courtroom that the jury was ready to report. As the judge entered the courtroom the crowd stood while the court crier announced the opening of the court with the customary, "God save the government." There was a brief suspense, the door opened and the jury filed in.

The room was so quiet that a pin could have been heard to drop. All eyes were fastened on the jury and all necks were craned in that direction. Justice Star-ford admonished those present to avoid any demonstration. Meantime the jury waited to deliver its verdict. Foreman James L. Feeney nervously clutching in his hand the document that meant so much to the frail and nerve-racked woman in the prisoner's chair.

"NOT GUILTY," IS VERDICT.

"Gentlemen of the jury," asked the clerk, "have you reached a verdict?"
"We have," answered the foreman.
"What is your verdict—is the defendant guilty or not guilty?"
Every person in the courtroom, from judge to spectator, almost breathlessly awaited the answer.

"Not guilty," replied the foreman, and
"Not guilty" replied every one of the jurors.
For a moment, in the intenseness of the excitement, not a word could be heard, then the suspense was over and a murmuring "thank God" from a group of women who sat on the front bench was heard through the courtroom and was the signal for a demonstration.

WEEPS AT VERDICT.

The prisoner, who had arrived at her cell in the city hall—a dark, ill-ventilated room directly under the criminal court—an hour before and remained there with her eldest son, Arthur, until just before court convened, sat directly back of Attorney Hoover, her counsel. She was dressed in black and with suppressed excitement watched the jury. There were tears in her eyes, but she bore up bravely. Immediately after the jury delivered its verdict, the court thanked the jury for the manner in which it had performed its duty and the jury, in turn,
through its foreman, expressed to the court and counsel its thanks for the consideration and courtesy shown them. The jury was then discharged and Mrs. Bradley was released from custody. She was immediately surrounded by men and women from among the spectators who pressed upon her their congratulations.
She retired to her cell from which she had come to hear the verdict and there she received a few visitors.

WOMAN IS THANKFUL.

She thanked them for their congratulations and expressed her relief at the conclusion of her trial. Meantime an automobile was waiting at a side door and through a lane of curious spectators she was escorted to the car, where,
joined by her counsel and several women friends, smiling and bowing to them as they called to her, she left the courthouse. The party returned shortly afterwards, but remained outside the building only a few minutes and then left for the home of some of Mrs. Bradley's friends.

LITTLE TO SAY.

Mrs. Bradley herself had little to say.
She expressed gratitude over the outcome of the trial, which she had confidently anticipated, and when asked what plans she had, replied that there was very little mapped out. Attorney George Hoover, of her counsel, said that he felt the verdict was in accordance with the law and the evidence. He began work on the case almost a year ago and the result, he said, was the culmination that he and his associates had expected.
He had not had at any time, he added,
any fear of the outcome.

FAIR AND IMPARTIAL TRIAL.

Judge Powers, the senior counsel for the defense, left last night for Salt Lake City.
United States District Attorney Baker,
in discussing the verdict, said:
"Mrs. Bradley was given a fair and impartial trial. Twelve men on the jury have declared her not guilty and that ends the case so far as the government is concerned."
Mrs. Bradley will leave here shortly for Goldfield, Nevada, there to join her sister. The final ballot of the jury was taken shortly before midnight.

BLACK BALLS BY ELECTRICITY.

Electrical balloting is one of the latest innovations introduced by the Automobile Club of America in its magnificent new clubhouse in New York. Formerly the board of governors made use of the old-fashioned black and white ball plan.
This was good enough so long as there were not very many applicants for membership to be balloted for, but when the list assumed large proportions a great deal of time was lost by the handling of the little spheres and the ballot box.
So a new and much superior system was devised by the club's vice-president and consulting engineer, Dr. Schuyler Skatts Wheeler. Instead of there being a ballot box passed, each member sits in his chair and presses a button, transmitting his vote electrically to the ballot box.
Each voter has in his hand a small block of wood, in which are two push buttons, one black and the other white. If he has no objection to the member whose name is up, he presses the white button and his vote is recorded accordingly; but if he thinks the club would be better off without the applicant, he presses the black one. In either case he votes absolutely in secret and in the twinkling of an eye. Technical World.

WOODCHOPPER BATTLES WITH RATTLESNAKE

WATERBURY, Conn. — Joseph Ter-rick, a French-Canadian woodchopper, after a battle with the biggest rattlesnake ever seen in this part of Connecticut, is recovering under the care of physicians. It will be some time before he will be able to work.

Terrick was chopping on a mountain at Beacon Falls, when a rattler, five feet long and nearly as thick as a man's wrist, sprang from under a log and fastened its fangs in his trousers. Never having seen a rattlesnake before he was not badly frightened. He grabbed the snake and managed to break the reptile's hold. It then fastened itself in one of his thick leather boots. Terrick was nearly worn out when Victor Anderson ran to his aid and killed the rattler.
Terrick was taken to the nearest farm house, but it was an hour before a doctor came.

WOMAN SHOTS MAN PEERING IN WINDOW

SHARON, Pa. — Mrs. A. J. Rice, wife of Chief of Police Rice, of South Sharon, proved herself a brave woman when she fired three shots from a revolver at a man peering through the window at her.
The fellow had been loitering around the house for a number of days, and Mrs.
Rice prevailed upon her husband to leave a revolver in the house for her own protection. Last night, as she was sitting in the parlor, she was startled at seeing a man looking through the glass at her.
Quietly she went upstairs and got the revolver. When she returned the man was still gazing into the room. Mrs.
Rice fired at the face. She then ran to the window and fired two other shots at him as he fled.

COURT RULES THAT LEMONS ARE MEDICINE

JEFFERSON CITY.—That a lemon is a medicine has been officially determined by the Supreme Court of Missouri.
The decision came up in an opinion by Judge Fox reversing the judgment of the Barry County Circuit Court against Jas.
Campbell and discharging Campbell. This is a unique case. Campbell was convicted of selling lemons on Sunday and fined $1. He operated an ice cream plant near the railroad station in Monett.
The Supreme Court says, in the opinion, that the only question involved is whether or not Campbell violated the Sunday closing law by exposing lemons for sale in his show window. The court holds that lemons, possessing medicinal properties as they do, come under the exemption in the statute as medicine, and their sale on Sunday is not a violation of the law.

what I would have done had it not been for Doan's Kidney Pills. At the time I began their use I was suffering from pains and a weakness in the small of my back and felt generally miserable. Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to my atten-

a short time before I was entirely cured.
